RATAN TATA: A VISIONARY WHO SOARED IN AEROSPACE AND BEYOND

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

RATAN Tata, who passed away on October 9, has left an indelible mark on the heart of India and also at Bengaluru's cherished Indian Institute of Science (IISc), where the industrialist played a pivotal role in advancing education and research.

The Tatas' connection to IISc dates back to its founding in the early 1900s, when Jamshedji Tata met with then Maharaja of Mysuru to establish the institute. The legacy continued with Ratan Tata, who, as chairman of Tata Sons, served as the president of IISc Court, the institute's highest decision-making body.

Under his leadership, Tata Trusts made a significant impact in 2014 by providing Rs 75 crore to the Centre for Neuroscience at IISc, funding vital research on Alzheimer's disease. The industrialist further supported the institution with the Sir Dorabji Tata Centre for Tropical Diseases, and establishment of a digital library in the 1990s.

Known for his passion for aviation, Ratan Tata, a regular visitor of the biennial Aero India show at the Air Force Station in Yelahanka, will be deeply missed at the upcoming Aero shows, where the Tata Group was a prominent exhibitor.

Twice, in 2007 and later in 2011, Tata donned the G-suit and flew in American fighter jets. In 2007, the business titan took his first flight in a Lockheed Martin F-16 during Aero India. A few years later, in the 2011 edition of Aero show, Tata once again took to the skies, this time in a Boeing F-18 Super Hornet. While he did not fly again after that, he remained a regular at the air show.

As a staunch advocate for growth, Ratan Tata emphasised Karnataka's potential as a hub for high-tech sectors, such as IT and aerospace, during the 2016 'Invest Karnataka Global Investors Meet' in Bengaluru. Tata had articulated a compelling vision for investment for the state during the meeting where he had shared the platform with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Union Minister Arun Jaitley and Kumar Mangalam Birla.

Remembering Tata as a nation icon, noting his pivotal role in elevating India's business sector to international prominence, CM Siddaramaiah remarked, "Ratan Tata is immortal through his life and achievements."

Former PM HD Deve Gowda recalled his personal interactions with Tata, describing him as a "gentle person". He mentioned their negotiations for Bengaluru's new airport during his tenure as CM and expressed grief at losing such an important figure in Indian business. Infosys, acknowledging him as a visionary leader, who reshaped industries and left a profound impact on many lives through his innovation, integrity and philanthropy, in a statement said, "His (Ratan Tata) legacy will continue to inspire generations."

In honour of their former President of IISc Court, the institute held a condolence meeting on Thursday, where students and faculty paid tribute.

BENGALURU'S LIFE SCIENCE CLUSTER MOURNS TATA'S DEATH

Bengaluru: The Bangalore Life Science Cluster on Thursday expressed condolences on the demise of industrialist Ratan Tata. A team from the National Centre for Biological Sciences, Tata Institute of Fundamental Research (TIFR), said Tata was instrumental in shaping the growth and success of the institute. "His commitment to scientific excellence has left an indelible mark on the Centre and the scientific community. As chair of TIFR Management Council, Ratan Tata played a crucial role in the establishment and continued development of NCBS, guiding it towards becoming one of the best institutes for biological research globally. His leadership and belief in the power of scientific inquiry have inspired generations of researchers," said Prof L S Shashidhara, Director, NCBS. Tata also established the Tata Institute for Genetics and Society (TIGS). "Under his guidance, TIGS emerged as a platform dedicated to harnessing advanced biological knowledge and techniques, with a keen focus on affordability and equity in food, nutrition and health. His foresight in integrating TIGS within BLiSC campus has significantly enriched the diversity and scope of research," the team said. ENS

11th October: Recently I was asked, yet again, about the difference between two of the world's great astrological systems - the Indian and the western. The answer is that each offers a different perspective, but taken together they're an amazing tool for self-understanding. Add the Chinese system and we have something very special indeed; astrologers like to say that all paths lead to the truth.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mars, your bold ruling planet, settles many outstanding issues by virtue of its potent relationships with your other planets. Encourage these helpful planetary aspects by adopting an approach that is calm and collected while paying due heed to your genuine emotional desires.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your determination to succeed is admirable indeed, and you should be able to steer a course which keeps you away from potential rivals or enemies. However, if battle must be joined, it looks as if a generally friendly atmosphere will still prevail in the end.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The Moon now gives you the advantage, for it obliges everyone to think like you. Those who continue with their old ways will be out-smarted by your sheer wit and instinctive grasp of the situation. But what you've really got to do is to look at the big picture.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
That rather obstreperous planet Pluto is stirring strange thoughts, vague hopes and irrational worries from the unconscious. Money could be the catalyst that causes a relationship to hit the rocks. But you could also be slightly uneasy about work.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There are few things more downcast than a bored or frustrated Leo. But with Mars and Mercury rapidly manoeuvring themselves into fresh positions, you must avoid taking your personal feelings out on other people. The fact that there may have been delays is nothing to do with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although you may believe that it is up to others to accept your proposals, the plain truth is that they are unlikely to do so. The reason may be that your ideas do not go far enough to cover all eventualities. That is not in itself a problem, but it does mean that you should cut your coat according to your cloth.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Did you know that Libra is the sign of diplomats and generals? Probably not, but the connection here is strategy. In other words, if you now have a game plan worked out in advance, and follow it through with determination, nothing will stand in your way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It definitely looks as if people you live with are in a mischievous mood. Don't take umbrage if a partner says something in jest which may be taken as offensive - it is not meant to upset. It may just be that they are currently not thinking straight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You are renowned for your rapid changes of mood. Quickness to anger can also mean willingness to forgive. Now that the planets are assuming a belligerent pose, your contribution can be to see to it that old wounds play no part in current discussions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's the fact that you were born under an earth sign that makes you so wonderfully efficient. Other people don't necessarily share your talents, so even though you still feel they are letting you down or failing to pull their weight, give them the benefit of the doubt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
During the next few weeks, while the Sun is in such a civilised region of your solar chart, you must ensure that any alterations in both your earnings and joint arrangements will be to your long-term advantage. You will be no good to anybody if you're worrying about money.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Pisceans who are set to gain the most from today's uncompromising influences are those who have banded together with other people for the purposes of pursuing and fighting a matter of principle. But sometimes your greatest gift is to know exactly when to compromise.

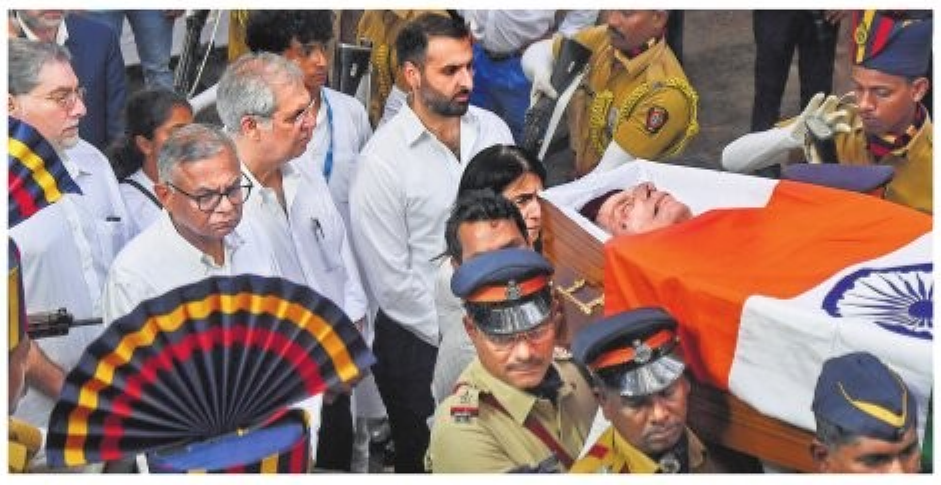
Ratan cremated, his legacy lives on



Tata Sons Chairman N Chandrasekaran, Neville Tata and others during last rites of industrialist Ratan Tata, at Worli Crematorium in Mumbai on Thursday | PTI

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

IT'S rare for a businessman's demise to draw a spontaneous outpouring of emotion from the lay public. But when the person in question is visionary industrialist Ratan Tata, 86, their sense of void is quite understandable, as his work touched millions of lives. Thousands of people thronged the lawns of the National Centre for Performing Arts at Nariman Point on Thursday to pay their homage to him.

Known as much for his philanthropy as for his bold acquisitions abroad, he infused the quality of trust and integrity into the Tata brand. His people-centric approach propelled him to realise his dream of an under ₹1 lakh car in the massy Nano. Though it failed the market test, his reputation of having his heart in the right place remained intact. Also, the Nano plant site shook up West Bengal politics like never before.

He was known to chase ideas, not wealth. Under his leadership, the salt-to-software behemoth grew more than 70 times in size.

The last rites were performed at Mumbai's Worli Crematorium with full state honours in the presence of Union home minister Amit Shah, his cabinet colleague Piyush Goyal, Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde, his deputy Devendra Fadnavis, and Congress leader and former chief minister Sushilkumar Shinde.

Shah stood in for Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who had to fly to Laos to attend the ASEAN-India and East Asia summits.

Earlier in the day, the Maharashtra cabinet recommended to the Centre to consider honouring Ratan Tata with a posthumous Bharat Ratna. The state government as well as a few others declared a day of mourning and the national flag was flown at half-mast across government offices.

The Mumbai Police paid tribute to Tata with a gun salute. Family and friends as well as top officials of Tata group joined the ceremony.

He valued leadership with trust

MORGEN WITZEL
Writer, management historian. Author of Tata: Evolution of a Corporate Brand

A titan has left us. Although Ratan Tata never had the reputation outside of India that he should have had — and richly deserved — he was the dominant figure in Indian business for more than three decades.

Like many great leaders, he did not at first aspire to a position of leadership. He once said that in a perfect world, he would have become an architect.

Nevertheless, as JRD Tata's leadership of the Tata Group drew to its close in the late 1990s, it was clear that Ratan was the only obvious choice to succeed him, the only man who could hold the group together. The "satraps" who aspired to succeed JRD were divisive figures, but Ratan was a unifier.

His first real test as a leader came when he was appointed as chair of TELCO, later Tata Motors, at a time when a vicious strike had brought the Pune plant nearly to a halt. Ratan's method of resolving the strike was typical of his later leadership style.

He went down to the shop floor, talked to the few remaining workers, listened to their grievances and promised to do his best for them. These workers talked to their striking colleagues and told them that Ratan was a leader they could trust. Gradually, the strikers began returning to work, leaving the leaders of the strike isolated.

"Leadership with trust" was one of Ratan's values, and he did his best to live by it. Following the collapse of Tata Finance in 2001, he famously promised that every investor and depositor would get their money back; no one would lose a single rupee. Eight years later, I asked him if he had known at the time how much money Tata Finance had lost, and how much the Tata Group would have to pay back. His answer was startling. "No," he said calmly. "I had no idea. In my mind, I was prepared to liquidate the entire group, sell off every asset we had, in order to pay that debt. We had to do this."

I asked him why. "Because if we had not, no one would ever have trusted us again," he said. "And everything we have worked for would have been thrown away."

Cabinet nod to recover ₹500cr from errant firms

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The state cabinet on Thursday decided to recover Rs 500 crore from the companies allegedly involved in irregularities in supplying medical equipment during Covid 19.

It also decided to set up a Special Investigation Team (SIT) to investigate the criminal intention and constitute a cabinet subcommittee, headed by DCM DK Shivakumar, to look into the Justice John Michael D'Cunha inquiry commission's interim report on irregularities in procuring medical equipment.

The cabinet also extended the term of SIT, which was set up in 2013-14 to investigate the illegal mining cases, for one more year as 113 cases, including the high court issuing stay orders in two cases, are pending with it.

Law Minister HK Patil told reporters that the government will immediately initiate steps to recover Rs 500 crore from the companies, besides blacklisting them based on the recommendations of the D'Cunha Commission report. "The commission examined 55,000 files and found irregularities in the procurement of equipment worth Rs 7,223.64 crore and recommended to the government to recover Rs 500 crore. The report covered four BBMP zones. A report on four more BBMP zones and 31 districts has to be submitted," he said.

VALMIKI CORP SCAM: SOCIETY CHAIRMAN GOT Rs 68L FOR OPENING 18 ACCOUNTS

He did it in collusion with accused No 1; Also received Rs 1.5cr in wife's account

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

Sathyanarayana Itakari, chairman of First Finance Cooperative Society in Hyderabad, who is accused No. 3 in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation scam, received Rs 68 lakh as commission, at the rate of 2 per cent, apart from getting Rs 1.5 crore in his wife's bank account, along with a considerable amount for opening 18 fake accounts for the transfer of Rs 89.62 crore from the bank account of the corporation.

The SIT probing the scam disclosed this in the statement of objections filed before the Special Court dealing with cases registered under the Prevention of Corruption Act, in response to bail applications filed by eight accused, including Itakari.

The other accused who approached the court for bail were Srinivasa Rao Kaki (A-2), Parushuram Durgannavar (A-6), Chandra Mohan Kukthapuram (A-7), Jagadish GK (A-8), Teja Thamatam (A-9), Sai Teja Reddy Devarapalli (A-4) and Nageshwar Rao (A-11).

According to the SIT, Itakari, as chairman of the Society, opened 18 fake accounts in collusion with accused No.1 (JG Padmanabha, ex-managing director of the corporation) and others and transferred Rs 89.62 crore directly from the corporation account to the 18 accounts to get the commission. He routed this amount through more than 300 accounts in the name of traders, businessmen and others, enabling the first accused to get it by way of kickback.

The court noted that, as per records placed before it, the investigating agency had already recovered Rs 51.11 crore, including gold worth Rs 11.70 crore, a Mercedes Benz worth Rs 1.2 crore and a Lamborghini worth Rs 3.31 crore from accused No.1, 2, 5, 7 and 8 during the probe.

After hearing arguments of the counsels for the accused and prosecution, Judge KM Radhakrishna noted that grant of conditional bail to accused No 3, 6, 9 and 11 would not affect the investigation or prejudice the prosecution in any manner, since the peculiar facts of the case do not indicate their requirement for custodial interrogation for the remainder of the investigation. The high court also released accused No. 12 on conditional bail, and no criminal antecedents were noticed against accused No. 3, 6, 9 and 11.

It was made clear that if future acts of the accused are likely to affect the interest of the prosecution or create an obstacle for further investigation, the investigating agency would be free to seek cancellation of bail at any stage of the proceedings, the judge said, granting conditional bail to four accused.

Auto driver kills mentally unstable woman, sexually assaults her

Kolar: In a ghastly incident, a man killed a mentally unstable woman and later sexually assaulted her body. SP B Nikhil told TNIE that Shankarappa, husband of deceased Susheelamma, lodged a complaint with Mulbagal police on September 25, that his first wife Susheelamma had gone missing. She was undergoing treatment at Nimhans in Bengaluru. She had had dinner on the night of September 24 and had left the house. The next day, Shankarappa was informed about a woman's body on a farmland in Hyderi Nagar. When he reached the spot, he was shocked to see his wife's body, bleeding from the ears and nose. Gynaecologist among 8 held for selling baby in D'gere

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Davanagere

MEMBERS of the district child protection unit and local women police have rescued a two-and-a-half-month-old baby boy allegedly sold here on August 26 by creating fake documents. Eight people, including a gynaecologist, have been arrested in this connection.

The baby of Kavya, a divorcee from Davanagere, was allegedly sold to Jaya and Prashanth Kumar of Vinobhanagar here by Dr Bharathi of MK Memorial Hospital through Vadiraj, Manjamma, Suresh and Ramesh.

The accused have confessed to the crime. They have been remanded in judicial custody for 14 days and the baby has been sent to the local government children's home, according to sources.

On a tip-off from the child helpline centre, district child protection officer TN Kavitha and her team visited the house of Jaya and Prashanth and demanded that they produce the birth certificate and medical records of the baby.

Kavya decided to sell her baby for Rs 5 lakh due to poverty. Jaya and Prashanth, who were childless, bought the baby through Vadiraj.

Vadiraj, who has close links with Dr Bharathi and Manjula of the hospital, got fake birth certificates. The birth of the baby was registered as August 26 at the Davanagere City Corporation's office.

Based on a complaint by the unit, a case has been filed under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, Child Protection Act 2004.

Gang tries to exchange fake currencies at RBI, nabbed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A gang of five fraudsters who attempted to exchange fake Rs 2,000 notes at Reserve Bank of India's regional office on Nrupathunga Road, were arrested by Halasuru Gate police. Of the five accused, four are from Kerala and one is from Ballari. The group had allegedly been printing fake currency in Kasaragod in Kerala.

A Central division police team travelled to Kasaragod, where it arrested four of the accused and seized a currency printing machine, Rs 29 lakh worth counterfeit currencies and currency papers. In total, police recovered Rs 54 lakh in counterfeit currencies.

The gang's modus operandi was to exchange fake Rs 2,000 notes with Rs 500 notes. This comes after the RBI's announcement in May 2023 of the withdrawal of Rs 2,000 currency notes. The public can exchange or deposit these Rs 2,000 notes in 19 of the RBI's regional offices which has issue departments. Among the five accused, three were identified as Afzal Hussain, Anwar and Prasidh.

"On September 9, Afzal Hussain (29) from Siruguppa in Ballari approached the RBI's regional office in Bengaluru with 1,234 notes of Rs 2,000, amounting to Rs 24.68 lakh, to exchange them for Rs 500 notes. Upon verifying the currencies, bank officials found that all the notes were fake. Afzal was immediately handed over to Halasuru Gate police, along with the fake notes, for further investigation. A case was immediately registered by police. Further investigations resulted in the arrest of the other accused," said DCP (Central) HT Shekhar.

Halasuru Gate police promptly registered a case under sections related to use of counterfeit currency-notes (BNS 179) and possession of fake notes (BNS 180).

MUDA ROW: SIDDARAMAIAH GETS CABINET BACKING

Ministers express solidarity with chief minister at Cabinet meeting, Siddu asserted he won't resign, say sources

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah arrives for the Cabinet meeting at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Thursday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Cabinet that met on Thursday expressed its solidarity with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who is facing heat from the Opposition BJP that is demanding his resignation over the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) imbroglio.

Speaking to reporters after the Cabinet meeting, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said that the Cabinet expressed its solidarity with and support to Siddaramaiah.

This comes at a time when a few of Siddaramaiah's own ministers have held closed-door meetings, fueling speculation of a leadership change in the state.

In a first Cabinet meeting held after Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathy handed over the 14 alternative sites to MUDA, the support from the Cabinet has come a shot in the arm for the CM. According to informed sources, Siddaramaiah, during the Cabinet meeting, asserted that he will not quit.

As soon as the MUDA case surfaced, the topic of change of guard in the state occupied headlines, and it gained momentum after the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) filed an ECIR against Siddaramaiah.

Speculation was rife after PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi started holding separate meetings with his Cabinet colleagues, including two Dalit leaders—Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara and Social Welfare Minister Dr HC Mahadevappa. Satish also met AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge in New Delhi and held deliberations. Satish also met two ministers in Mysuru. The Congress high command was forced to intervene with AICC general secretary KC Venugopal dialling DyCM and state Congress chief DK Shivakumar. They, along with Siddaramaiah, held discussions over the phone on Wednesday.

On Thursday, one of the ministers raised the issue in the Cabinet meeting. The ministers, including Satish, Dr Parameshwara, and Mahadevappa, explained that their meetings were apolitical. The media has misinterpreted the meetings, they claimed. "They (ministers) said that Siddaramaiah should continue as CM. Siddaramaiah, who gave a patient hearing, said that he will not resign as CM," a minister told The New Indian Express.

CABINET DISCUSSES SC QUOTA CLASSIFICATION

BENGALURU: The Chief Minister Siddaramaiah cabinet on Thursday discussed the implementation of the classification of the Scheduled Caste quota, and decided to approach the Congress high command in this regard. Ministers belonging to the Dalit community -- Dr HC Mahadevappa, KH Muniyappa, and Shivaraj Tangadagi -- raised the issue. They said the BJP is trying to make it an issue to corner the ruling party. Replying, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said the issue is sensitive, as the interests of all the communities within the SC category should be considered. The cabinet decided to take the communities along, by convincing them that the classification would help them, sources said. On October 21, the Congress legislators hailing from different communities within the SC category are expected to meet and arrive at a consensus, and file a report before the CM, they added. ENS

DKS lacks popularity, not a CM face, says BYV

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar is believed to be the strong contender for the chief minister's post should Siddaramaiah step down, but according to BJP state president BY Vijayendra, Shivakumar will not be the next CM. Vijayendra claimed the Bengaluru development minister lacks acceptance from all quarters in the state, and is not popular as a leader everywhere.

To a question, Vijayendra said Siddaramaiah, who was embroiled in the MUDA scam, would soon step down, and it was up to the Congress leaders to select the next CM. He said the BJP in the state ably exposed several major scams in the last three months, mainly those related to the Valmiki Corporation and MUDA. Speaking to the media in Belagavi on Thursday, Vijayendra said the people in the state felt that "the Congress government was in coma, as none of the development projects had been taken up, ever since the party formed the government". None of the ministers in the state cabinet were visiting the districts, and that they have confined themselves to Bengaluru, he said.

The MUDA scam had surrounded the chair of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his cabinet ministers were aware that he would not complete his term. For the last 3-4 months, the people have felt that no government exists in the state, he stated.

In an attempt to become CM for the second time, Siddaramaiah had tried to capitalise on the Veerashaiva Lingayat separate religion issue. He had lost confidence and his ministers were holding confidential meetings to discuss the issue of change of guard in the state. "At any moment, the CM could resign and the state would have a new leader in the coming winter session of the Legislature," Vijayendra claimed. After Siddaramaiah formed the government, North Karnataka has been totally neglected, Vijayendra stated, adding that "the government is anti-North Karnataka". Stating that the CM should resign without any delay, he claimed, "Siddaramaiah is 'accused no. 1' in the MUDA site allotment scam, case and not no. 1 in Abhivruddhi (development)."

Commenting on the Haryana election results, in which the BJP emerged victorious, he said it would have an impact on the Maharashtra elections later this year as well.

LOKAYUKTA POLICE QUIZ CM'S KIN, LANDOWNER

MYSURU: The Lokayukta Police questioned Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's brother-in-law Mallikarjuna Swamy and landowner J Devaraju on Thursday as part of their investigation into the MUDA site allotment scam. Swamy, who has been named as accused No 3, and Devaraju as accused No 4, appeared separately before the investigating officers at the Lokayukta SP's office here. SP TJ Udesh and other officers questioned them. Swamy purchased three acres and 16 guntas of land from Devaraju in August 2004, which was converted for residential purposes in 2005. In 2010, Swamy executed a gift deed transferring this land to his sister Parvathi, who is Siddaramaiah's wife. Sources said Devaraju submitted a compromise petition in a Mysuru court in 2008, where he and other claimants agreed to resolve a dispute over the land ownership. The Lokayukta team questioned them about the transactions related to the land and the alleged irregularities surrounding it. Siddaramaiah has been named as accused No 1 and his wife as accused No 2 in the case. ENS

BJP accuses govt of indulging in politics of hate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP MLC N Ravi Kumar has accused the state government of indulging in politics of hate. Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, the BJP leader said they have no objection to the state government's decision to constitute a Special Investigation Team (SIT) to probe alleged irregularities in Covid-19 management during the previous BJP rule, but asked why did the government wait for one-and-half years to do it.

The BJP leader said that since the CM is facing serious allegations in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) sites allotment scam and Valmiki ST Development Corporation scam cases, and the Opposition is demanding his resignation, the government is now talking about the alleged mismanagement of the Covid-19 pandemic.

He was responding to the decision taken in the state cabinet on Thursday. "We are not against the formation of an SIT or a cabinet sub-committee. If there were any irregularities in the Covid management, let that come out. But why did the government take one-and-half years?" They suddenly remembered Covid management when the BJP took out a padayatra against the Rs 5,000-crore scam in the MUDA. If the MUDA scam was not brought to light, they would not have spoken about Covid," he said.

He said the SIT constituted by the state government had given a clean chit to Congress MLA B Nagendra in the ST corporation scam. The BJP leader said they will wait and watch what the SIT will do about the then Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar in the Covid issue.

"THE SIT will take forward the case by filing FIRs against those involved in the irregularities. The sub-committee will investigate the administrative malpractices," Patil said.

The report stated that some companies claimed money for their bills in advance and did not supply any material, he said.

On whether names of certain officers and elected representatives, including the then minister Dr K Sudhakar, have been mentioned in the report, he said only D'Cunha can reply to such queries.

Patil said that a Public Accounts Committee (PAC) led by him tabled the report on the alleged irregularities during the pandemic, before the Legislative Assembly on July 17, 2023.

Cases against 60 activists to be dropped

The cabinet approved a proposal to withdraw cases against 60 activists of Dalit organisations, farmers' associations and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's fans, among others.

Many elected representatives, including minister Dr MC Sudhakar and CT Ravi, had proposed to drop the criminal cases against the activists.

Approve Kalasa-Banduri project without delay, K'taka urges Centre

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

WHILE raising serious objections to the obstacles being put by the Goa Government for the implementation of the Kalasa-Banduri project, the Karnataka Government appealed to the Centre to grant the needed approval for the launch of the project, without any delay, and said the Supreme Court has not issued a stay on it.

The issue of diversion of water under the Kalasa-Banduri project at Kankumbi was discussed at the 80th standing committee meeting of the National Board for Wildlife (NBW) in New Delhi on October 9.

A major agenda at the meeting was a proposal submitted by the Karnataka Government for use of 10.68 hectares of forest land from the tiger corridor between Kali and Sahyadri Tiger Reserves for construction of diversion weir, jack well-cum-pumphouse, electrical substation, pipeline and powerline in Kanakumbi and other adjoining villages for construction of Kalasa Nala Diversion Scheme in Khanapur taluk.

On hearing Karnataka's request, the NBW standing committee directed the state's representatives to submit all the relevant documents of the project status and said it would take a decision soon.

Additional Chief Secretary of the Department of Forest N Manjunath Prasad said the project would help supply drinking water to lakhs of people in North Karnataka. "Already, nine months have passed since the expert committee of the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) approved the project. Considering all such developments, the Centre should immediately grant forest and wildlife permission for its launch,'' he said.

He added that the Forest Ministry had asked the Karnataka Government to get the NBW's approval, as about 10.68 hectares under the project falls in the Tiger corridor. And in this connection, the state government had submitted a proposal to NBW, following which the NTCA expert committee visited the project site, said Manjunath, adding that the NTCA report is yet to be submitted to the NBW.

Officials reminded the committee that the Mahadayi Water Dispute Tribunal (MWDT) gave an award, allotting the share of the river water to Karnataka, Maharashtra and Goa, the three stakeholders of the project, in 2018 itself, and subsequently, the Supreme Court stated in 2020 that the Central Water Commission could approve the revised project report of the Kalasa-Banduri project. In December 2022, the Central Water Commission gave its approval to the project, officials said, adding that later, the state government submitted a proposal to demand forest approval to the Centre under the Forest Protection Act.

There was absolutely no problem for any of the Central authorities to give their nod to the project, the officials said, reminding that in the meanwhile, the Principal Conservator of Forest, Goa, had issued a show-cause notice to the MD of Karnataka Neeravari Nigam under the Wildlife Protection Act of 1972, that without the permission of the Goa Government, the Karnataka Government should not take up the project. Later, Karnataka had filed a petition with the Supreme Court, contending that Goa had no powers to issue such notices and that it should be suspended.

'Confident Kalasa-Banduri project will clear all hurdles'

BENGALURU: Forest, Environment and Ecology Minister Eshwar B Khandre on Thursday expressed confidence that the National Board for Wildlife will give its nod to the Kalasa-Banduri Nala project. The board held a meeting in Delhi on October 9, Khandre said, adding that Union Forest Ministers and top ministry officials were present. The meeting was proceeding in the positive direction, he said, adding that the Goa government had contested the diversion of the rivers and tributaries for the project. But the Mahadayi River Water Disputes Tribunal in August 2018 had given permission to divert 3.9 tmcft for the project, and the same was conveyed to the Union Government at the meeting, he said. ENS

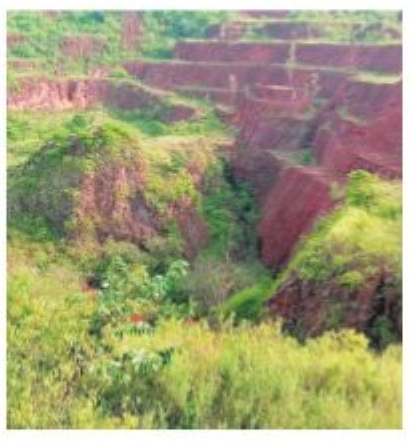
Kappatagudda must be protected: Gadag's seers

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

ENVIRONMENTALISTS and seers in Gadag and its surrounding districts are worried that Kappatagudda could become another Ballari or Sandur, and are, hence, demanding that proposals for mining should be directly denied, rather that merely postponed, and no meetings should be convened to give approval for mining.

Gadag Tontadarya Mutt's seer Siddarama, Nandiveri Mutt's seer Shivakumar and others said they are ready to fight for Kappatagudda, and will not allow any mining or other companies to harm the hillock. Presently, Kappatagudda is attracting good footfalls, owing to its clean air, and people frequent it in the early mornings to breathe in some fresh air. However, about two decades ago, some companies dug through the hillock to extract sand, resulting in a massive ditch appearing in the Doni forest range at the top. This led former Indian cricketer Anil Kumble, seers and environment activists in Gadag to gather and protest to stop the mining.



Seer Siddarama said the government has postponed a meeting on 28 mining proposals, within a 10-km range of the hillock, for now, but if it gives permission later, it will be the first step towards damaging the whole of Kappatagudda.

Nandiveri Mutt representatives have formed an organisation called 'Parisara Premigalu' (Lovers of the Environment), under the guidance of seer Shivakumar, and they are taking those seeking adventure on treks over the hillock, to share its importance.

The Tontadarya Mutt seer said, "The state government should have declined to the 28 proposals, instead of just postponing the meeting. Kappatagudda has rich biodiversity and is known as the Sahyadri of this region. Gadag DC, ZP CEO, and environment activists of this region should be on the main committee, so that they can get the complete picture of the matter."

"The hillock belongs to all and it is the duty of every human being to save nature. We see God in Kappatagudda. A wide variety of birds and medicinal plants attract many to this place. The government should not permit mining within 10 km of the hillock. Miners will come with cyanide and other poisons and harm both flora and fauna here," the Nandiveri Mutt seer warned.

Kerala received Rs 3,430 crore as tax devolution from the Union Government. The release includes the normal monthly devolution due in October and an advance instalment, said an official statement

Kerala Assembly passes resolution against 'One Nation, One Election'

'It reflects anti-democratic mindset, against constitutional values'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

THE Kerala Assembly on Thursday unanimously passed a resolution urging the Union Government not to implement the 'One Nation One Election' proposal, which it termed "anti-constitutional".

The resolution moved by Kerala Parliamentary Affairs Minister M B Rajesh on behalf of Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan said the proposal, which was submitted by the high-level committee headed by former president Ram Nath Kovind before the Union cabinet, reflected an anti-democratic mindset. It said the move was against constitutional values and undermined the parliamentary democratic system.

"The proposal is also viewed as a sinister ploy to nix the socio-cultural and political diversity of the country," the resolution said. The high-level committee has proposed holding simultaneous elections to Parliament and state assemblies followed by synchronised local body polls within 100 days. The resolution said the proposal, if implemented, would pave the way for the centralisation of power to the hilt. The intention is to set up a centralised unitary administration as per the agenda of the RSS and BJP, the resolution stated.

"If implemented, the proposal will dilute the powers of the state legislative assemblies and make the local bodies that function as local governments irrelevant. That way it will disrupt the decentralisation of power and negate the involvement of the public in the democratic processes," the resolution read.

It added that the act of viewing Parliament, assembly and local body elections through the prism of expenses alone is undemocratic and simple options were available to curtail expenses and streamline administration. "The proposal disrupts federalism, which is the fundamental aspect of the Constitution, and violates the powers enjoyed by the state. It also challenges the sovereignty of the public," the resolution said. Now, the resolution will be sent to the Centre.

AP ORDER RESTRAINS TEMPLE AUTHORITIES FROM INTERFERING IN VEDIC & AGAMA ISSUES

VIJAYAWADA: The Andhra Pradesh government on Wednesday night issued orders restraining administrative authorities of temples from interfering in Vedic and Agama issues. The order was issued in compliance with Section 13 (1) of the AP Charitable and Hindu Religious Institutions and Endowment Act, 1987 to preserve the sanctity of customs and traditions of temples. The development is significant as it comes in the wake of the recent controversy surrounding the alleged use of adulterated ghee in making Prasadam at Lord Venkateswara temple in Tirumala and amid growing demands for autonomy to the temples in conducting rituals. Endowments Commissioner S Satyanarayana told TNIE that government order 223 was issued so that no administrative authority interferes with the Agama traditions of temples. The opinion of senior most Archakas or religious staff of a temple shall prevail while making decisions on important religious matters, such as choosing the mode of performing rituals and Sevas to the deities, fixing Muhurta (auspicious time) for performing Yagas, Kumbhabhishekams, introduction of new Sevas and rituals, he explained. ENS

BIKE MECHANIC FROM PANDAVAPURA WINS ₹25-CRORE KERALA LOTTERY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mandya

A bike mechanic from Pandavapura town has won Kerala government's Rs 25-crore Thiruvonam bumper lottery.

Altaf Pasha

Altaf Pasha, 45, bought a lottery ticket (TG 434222) for Rs 500 a few days ago. The results were declared on Wednesday. Altaf runs a small bike garage on Pandavapura-Mandya Road. He lives with his wife Seema in a rented house at Basavanagudi Layout. They have a 21-year-old son and a 19-year-old daughter. His friend Samiulla told reporters that a few days ago Altaf visited Wayanad in Kerala where he purchased the lottery ticket. After returning home, he tried to sell the ticket to his friend, who owns a welding shop adjacent to his garage, when he ran out of money. But the shop owner refused to buy the ticket.

Altaf could not send his son to school because of poverty and they both worked in their garage.

"After I came to know that I won the bumper prize, I rushed home and informed my wife and daughter. Initially, they did not believe me. But when I showed my ticket and the winning number on my mobile phone, they rejoiced," Altaf told reporters.

"I will receive Rs 12.8 crore after all deductions. I will buy a house first and start a business. I can now get my daughter married happily. I will also help the poor as I know what poverty is," he said.

Attempt to kill SC panchayat president: Six get life term

ENS @ Tirunelveli

SIX persons, who were convicted on Tuesday in the 2011 attempt-to-murder case of a SC woman president of Thalaiyoothu panchayat, were awarded double life imprisonment by the II Additional District Court for PCR Act Cases here on Thursday.

The convicts are Subramanian (60), Sultan Maideen (59), Jacob (33), Karthik (34), Vijaya Ramamoorthy (34), and Praveenraj (32). The incident occurred on June 13, 2011 when the victim, P Krishnaveni (49), was brutally attacked by a gang after she passed a resolution to construct a public toilet for local women on a poramboke land.

Subramanian opposed her move as the land was located near his house. He led the assailants in attacking Krishnaveni with sickles, causing severe injuries. She lost part of her right ear and two fingers, and sustained deep cuts on her shoulder and neck. She had to undergo treatment at the Tirunelveli Medical College Hospital for several months.

Judge K Sureshkumar found the six accused guilty, while two persons — Ramakrishnan and Santhanamari — were acquitted on Tuesday. Another accused Natarajan had died. On Thursday, the judge awarded double life imprisonment to all six convicts and also imposed a penalty of ₹1.1 lakh on Praveenraj and ₹1.3 lakh on five other convicts. He ordered payment of the penalty to Krishnaveni as compensation.

CASTE SURVEY COULD BE A POLITICAL HOT POTATO FOR SIDDU

SIDDARAMAIAH has promised that the caste census—a socio-economic and educational survey conducted in 2015, during his previous term as Karnataka's chief minister—will be placed before the state cabinet next week. The Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes had submitted the report to the CM ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, but it was not made public. Now, the government is likely to constitute a sub-committee to review the report. It hopes to use the caste census as the basis for future schemes to bring in greater parity in society.

Yet, the report may run into rough weather, already having drawn diverse reactions from both within the Congress and other political groups. Though it could bring about a paradigm change in the state's social engineering matrix, it could also turn into a political hot potato for Siddaramaiah. The dominant Lingayat and Vokkaliga castes, estimated at 17 percent and 14 percent of the population, are none too pleased that the report could soon go public. It is widely believed that the two castes, while holding prominent social and political positions, may not have the requisite numbers to claim substantial resources. President of the powerful Akhil Bharata Veerashaiva Mahasabha and Davanagere South MLA Shamanur Shivashankarappa has demanded a fresh survey. A number of Veerashaiva Lingayat seers have also demanded a "scientific census".

The 2015 exercise, which cost ₹160 crore, was carried out over 45 days, with 1.6 lakh surveyors asking 1.35 crore households 55 questions and verifying caste certificates, school records etc. Karnataka's 70-million-strong population is made up of nearly 1,500 castes and sub-castes. Communities perceived to be oppressed and hoping for a bigger share of the resources are waiting for the report to be made public and implemented. The BJP, though opposed to such a census, is treading warily.

Last October, the Nitish Kumar government in Bihar made its caste census findings public and hoped for a special economic status, which has not yet come its way. Rahul Gandhi has consistently demanded a nationwide caste census. At the nub is the issue of reservation, with communities fighting for their due proportion. While caste is a great divisor of society, it is hoped that such surveys will not divide us further, and that some day the country will be able to do away with reservation.

RETHINK ONLINE-ONLY SABARIMALA BOOKINGS

THE Kerala government has decided to revoke spot booking and cap the number of daily pilgrims at Sabarimala during the annual Mandalam-Makaravilakku festival at 80,000. The decision to go completely online is aimed at regulating the heavy rush during the pilgrimage season at the hill shrine. According to the temple affairs minister, it was important to cap the number of daily visitors to ensure safe pilgrimage devoid of accidents. His argument is that whenever spot booking has been used, it has resulted in a dramatic increase in the number—stretching up to 1 lakh, as was seen last year. It causes problems with crowd management and essential services such as water and toilets. One advantage of virtual booking, according to the government, is that the pilgrims would get a chance to choose their travel route, too.

While there is some logic in the government's argument, it could be too early to go completely online. Many feel that limiting the slots for darshan through a virtual queue system would deprive thousands of pilgrims, especially from other states and those not be adept with technology. The move is said to have been inspired by the system in place at Tirupati, where the booking is mostly virtual. Critics insist it is wrong to emulate the model because while Tirupati is open to devotees round the year, Sabarimala is open only for a limited number of days a year. So, those unable to get virtual booking slots would be deprived of offering prayers for a year.

The decision has caused much confusion as the pilgrimage season is just a month away. The government must evolve some mechanism to ensure darshan even for those who do not have access to virtual bookings. There could be an arrangement where most slots are issued virtually and a smaller share kept open for spot bookings. This would reduce the chances of trouble in crowd management. While it is important to ensure security, it is also important not to deny a devotee the darshan of Lord Ayyappa. Opposition parties, especially the BJP, have warned of strong protests if the decision is not changed. The Sabarimala pilgrimage season has seen more than enough political controversies over the years; the government must ensure there isn't another one this season.

QUICK TAKE

THE NOBEL EFFECT

OF all the Nobel prizes, the ones for peace and literature are perhaps the most hotly debated. Critics pounce with allegations of bias and political signalling the moment the names are announced. But one thing is not in contention: the unparalleled attention the award brings with it. So when South Korean novelist Han Kang was announced this year's literature prize winner on Thursday, the millions unfamiliar with her works would have started feverishly googling her. A related consequence is many more translations that allow the author's thoughts to travel to faraway corners. This is the effect that the Sahitya Akademi, Bharatiya Jnanpith and Indian publishers can aim to replicate in close coordination.

As a leader, he preferred being an intellectual nomad rather than a map-bound explorer. Though he pushed colleagues to be efficient and effective, he always behaved kindly with them

THE RATAN TATA WAY: NEEYAT, NEETI AND NIYAM

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Author, former Director, Tata Sons, and former Vice Chairman, Hindustan Lever

RATAN Tata was loved by almost everybody, understood by most people and was misunderstood by just a few. That is a pretty good track record for any human being. To be loved by everybody is a rare gift for an enterprise leader. To be misunderstood by only a few is a superb record. He never uttered the words in the title of this article: neeyat, neeti, niyam. The coinage is my summary for his style of leadership.

Neeyat

This word derives from the Arabic neeya, which alludes to strategic or deep-seated intent. For any enterprise, the neeyat should not be to 'make lots of money' because that would be akin to saying that the neeyat of a human being is to 'breathe in lots of oxygen'! Just as our body needs oxygen at calibrated levels to live healthily, an enterprise needs profits at calibrated levels to live healthily. Profit is a measure of enterprise efficiency, but not of enterprise effectiveness. Too much profit, like too much oxygen, can be toxic.

Ratan Tata desired that, like human beings, enterprises should be nurtured to become efficient and effective. To be efficient, they had to operate at top-class levels. To be effective, his enterprises had to have the community at centre-stage. Here are a few instances of how Ratan walked the talk, not to show off as an example to others but to be, well, himself.

When Covid happened, the Tata companies' profits and efficiency were negatively affected, like for most other companies. However, Tata group's contributions to Covid relief were significantly higher than earlier years' expenditures on social responsibility. This typifies the act of corporate effectiveness.

When the Bhuj earthquake occurred in January 2001, the senior leadership at the group level and in the companies, led by Ratan Tata, invested top leadership time to explore the best way to help rather than assign a budget and let lower-level officers figure out the best use of the funds.

When the terror attack occurred at the Taj Hotel in Mumbai, Ratan Tata personally visited the injured employees in hospital. The accompanying human resource head of Taj asked whether Ratan Tata was satisfied with the response of the management. "I have not come to check if your response is good enough. I have come to figure out what else we can do for our employees," he replied.

MANDAR PARDIKAR

Neeti

This is all about how we behave with each other as we work alongside. In this respect, Ratan must have learnt from J R D Tata, who espoused the virtues of 'the affectionate leader'. Ratan believed that it is important to always be respectful, fair and kind in human interactions. He himself was not perfect in this respect (and other respects too), but who is perfect? Ratan was as close to behaving perfectly well with others as is humanly possible.

Here is one example. When he was unhappy with a leader's performance, he would make his view clear, often in a three-stage process that could extend over several months. First, he would verbally talk to the leader about those aspects of delivery that appeared unsatisfactory to him. Second, he would write a personalised note to the person, emphasising the need to improve and in which areas. Third, he would rap the person on the knuckles through lower increments, or, in an extreme, suggesting a separation.

Another example: he wished to encourage diverse viewpoints, but the debate had to conclude at some stage. If essential, he would intervene, and in a seemingly unidimensional manner, state the decision and seek everybody's cooperation to implement in an efficient manner.

Neeti was an important aspect of Ratan Tata's behaviour with colleagues and work associates. Neeti also had the connotation of a mythical 'Tata way', which was precious to all in the group.

Niyam

In a sense, processes and rules were not his strong suite. He preferred being an intellectual nomad rather than a map-bound explorer. That was the way he was made; it reflected the way in which his fertile mind worked. While most executives would think in a reductionist manner, probing answers to the question "What is inside this?", he was usually in a creative mode, asking, "What is this a part of?" He respected rules but would not hesitate to modify them to suit a particular solution to a problem.

Around 2005, he posed a question to some colleagues including myself: "What can we, as leaders, do to make Tata more innovative?" Prompt came systems-oriented answers like adopting innovation funnels, using stage gate decision rules, and so on. He would say, "No, don't give me process answers. I wish to influence the culture of innovation. It would take time, but it would be more durable."

Then we began a collaborative exercise between Tata Sons and the operating companies. Chairing this activity taught me the differences between executing programmatic, operational change as compared to time-intensive, transformational change.

But the question still arises: what is the connection between neeyat-neeti-niyam principles and company valuations and management economics? The traditional management system of focusing managers on valuations and profits is broke, at least to my eye. There could well be a secret sauce in deftly combining the traditional profit principles with eastern wisdom principles. In a way, combining financial valuation with perpetual valuation ideas.

This is what prompted my co-author Harish Bhat and me to write our book, Jamsetji Tata: Powerful Lessons for Corporate Success. From the time of Jamsetji Tata through 150 years till Ratan Tata, the bedrock of neeyat-neeti-niyam has guided every executive and company in the group. It is remarkable for that to have been institutionalised. And Ratan Tata must get great credit for accomplishing this. By doing so, he has ensured that Tata has embraced the future. What better legacy could he have left? Om shanti.

BEDROCK OF ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS UNDER SIEGE

JOHN J KENNEDY

Professor and Dean, Christ (Deemed) University, Bengaluru

THE greatest satisfaction for educators lies in freely expressing their views, especially within the classroom, where they can foster dialogue and encourage diverse perspectives. Higher education institutions have traditionally been regarded as bastions of intellectual freedom. However, the current socio-political climate prompts a pressing question: are university spaces truly free?

Concerns are increasingly being raised about external influences that pose significant threats to academic freedom. A recent controversy involving an international university in India underscores this vulnerability, where a professor was compelled to resign after a research scholar included Noam Chomsky's quote about a political leader in the doctoral proposal.

Such episodes raise concerns about the ability of academic institutions to remain independent spaces for exploring ideas free from censorship. When universities yield to external pressures, the foundational principles of open inquiry are compromised, jeopardising the integrity of these institutions and the broader society that depends on them for intellectual and cultural progress.

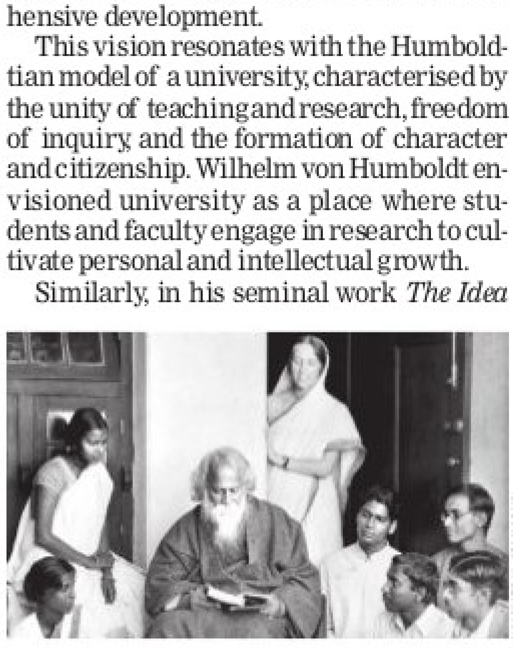
On the 2022 Academic Freedom Index published by the V-Dem Institute, India scored 0.38 out of 1, reflecting a decline. Reports show increasing pressure on academics, including raids and forced resignations, like of a top academic from a top private university in 2021. This troubling trend contrasts sharply with India's history of fostering independent inquiry through its thinkers and philosophers.

Rabindranath Tagore envisioned university as a place where freedom of thought and creativity were paramount. Visva Bharati, the university he founded in Shantiniketan, was based on integrating the best of eastern and western educational traditions. For Tagore, the ideal university fostered a global outlook, encouraged interdisciplinary learning, and connected education with the natural environment and community.

Similarly, Swami Vivekananda viewed a university not merely as a place for learning but as a space where individuals could discover their inner potential and contribute to society's upliftment.

Historically, Indian thinkers have seen education not as a means to acquire knowledge but as a path to self-realisation and societal well-being. The ancient Indian concept of a university, exemplified by institutions like Takshashila and Nalanda, was rooted in the idea of education as comprehensive development.

This vision resonates with the Humboldtian model of a university, characterised by the unity of teaching and research, freedom of inquiry, and the formation of character and citizenship. Wilhelm von Humboldt envisioned university as a place where students and faculty engage in research to cultivate personal and intellectual growth.



WIKIMEDIA COMMONS

Universities need to create spaces where established ideas can be challenged. But this freedom is being cramped in India, where there is increasing pressure on academics to toe the line. The trend goes against the lofty ideals articulated by Tagore and Vivekananda

Similarly, in his seminal work The Idea of a University, John Henry Newman emphasised the importance of broad, liberal education that would cultivate a well-rounded intellect capable of critical thinking.

Unfortunately, this idea is under attack globally. University spaces are increasingly becoming havens for uncriticality, imitation, standardisation and uniformity. In India, the growing involvement of the state has raised concerns about the erosion of academic freedom. Regulatory bodies have been criticised for imposing rigid guidelines restricting institutional autonomy.

In Hungary, for example, the Central European University was forced to relocate to Vienna in 2019 after the Hungarian government, led by PM Viktor Orban, passed legislation effectively banning the university from operating in Budapest. The move was widely condemned as an attack on academic freedom, seen as part of a broader strategy to stifle dissenting voices and consolidate control over educational institutions.

External influences profoundly impact the nature of research. When universities are pressured to align their curriculum with political agendas, the diversity and richness of scholarship are compromised. For example, in China, universities increasingly follow the Chinese Communist Party's ideological directives, leading to the suppression of research on sensitive topics like human rights abuses. This environment of self-censorship narrows the scope of academic inquiry and damages the credibility of Chinese scholarship.

Similarly, in Turkey, the aftermath of the 2016 coup attempt resulted in a widespread crackdown on academia. Thousands of academics were dismissed, and several universities, particularly those perceived as linked to the Gülen movement, were shut down. This has created an atmosphere of fear and conformity within Turkish universities. In such restrictive environments, can genuine research and academic inquiry truly flourish?

The stifling of academic freedom has serious implications for the quality of research. Academic inquiry thrives when scholars can freely explore new ideas, challenge established paradigms, and engage in open debate. However, when this freedom is compromised by ideological, political or economic pressures, knowledge production becomes constrained, leading to researchers avoiding certain topics out of fear of losing funding or facing backlash.

The state of university freedom today is crucial, as it directly impacts the future of knowledge and societal progress. Increasing external pressures from governments, political parties and vested interests pose a threat to academic freedom. It is essential to halt these interferences; otherwise, Aldous Huxley's ominous warning that higher education does not necessarily lead to higher virtue will continue to ring true.

Global visionary

The passing of Ratan Tata marks a turning point in the Indian industry, as we lose an unparalleled visionary whose leadership transformed the Tata Group into a global giant. It will be interesting to see how his successors uphold his legacy and whether they can individually replicate his monumental achievements in the coming years.

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said India-ASEAN trade has doubled to over $130 billion in the past decade and announced a review of the trade in goods agreement to harness the greater economic potential of the partnership.

He announced a 10-point plan to strengthen India-ASEAN comprehensive partnership and asserted that ties with the regional grouping were critical to guiding Asia's future.

"Our trade with the ASEAN region has almost doubled in the last 10 years to over $130 billion. Today, from India there are direct flights with seven ASEAN countries, and soon direct flights will also start with Brunei," Modi said at the summit in Lao PDR.

A decade back Modi had announced India's Act East policy. "Over the past decade, this policy has given new energy, direction and momentum to the historical ties between India and ASEAN countries," he said.

"The India-ASEAN Summit was a productive one. We discussed how to further strengthen the Comprehensive Strategic Partnership between India and ASEAN. We look forward to deepening trade ties, cultural linkages and cooperation in technology, connectivity and other such sectors,' he said in a post on X after the summit.

The 10-point plan to further strengthen the India-ASEAN partnership includes celebrating the year 2025 as the ASEAN-India Year of Tourism, doubling the number of scholarships at Nalanda University and providing new grants for ASEAN students at agricultural universities in India. Over 300 ASEAN students have availed of scholarships at Nalanda University. Besides, work has been done to preserve common heritage and heritage in Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam, Myanmar, and Indonesia.

In the ASEAN region, Singapore was the first country with which India stablished FinTech connectivity. And, now this success is being replicated in other countries as well.

"India has contributed over $30 million to the Science and Technology Fund, Digital Fund and Green Fund for cooperation in various fields. As a result, today our cooperation extends from underwater to space. That is, our partnership has expanded in every way in the last decade," Modi said.

India also launched the Indo-Pacific Oceans Initiative in 2018, which compliments the ASEAN outlook on Indo-Pacific. In 2023, maritime exercises were launched for regional security.

Modi said India would make available $5 million for enhancing disaster resilience and initiate a new health ministers' track to build health resilience.

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday said the Narendra Modi government has created a pro-business environment in the past 10 years by ensuring political stability and continuity in policy measures as well as cracking down on terrorism and left-wing extremism.

Addressing the 119th annual session of the PHD Chamber of Commerce and Industry here, Shah said, "Industry leaders in the audience should feel assured that days of policy paralysis is over. The security scenario has improved to such an extent that terrorism in Jammu & Kashmir, left-wing extremism in affected areas, and insurgency in the northeast have been buried 200 yards deep into the ground."

He asserted that there has not been a single corruption charge against the Modi government, which transformed India from one of the "Fragile Five" economies to a "bright spot" in the comity of nations. "By 2047, India is poised to emerge as one of the most developed countries in the world," he said at a session on 'Developed India @2047: Marching Towards the Peak of Progress'.

Shah said the government has brought reforms in various sectors resulting in improved infrastructure, enhanced connectivity, expanded digital economy and railway networks, setting up of manufacturing units for semi-conductors, and electric vehicles.

Ten years ago, India was a country of double-digit inflation but now it has become a country of double-digit growth, Shah said. Take out a day for people as Haryana shows good work gets rewarded: PM to ministers

Vitality of Visibility

Modi reiterated that the performance and visibility of government actions are crucial for electoral success. He also attributed the electoral success to the party's good governance, emphasizing that performance is the key factor that ensures favorable electoral outcomes.

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi expressed satisfaction with the BJP's success in the recent Haryana assembly elections during a cabinet meeting on Wednesday. He emphasized the importance of good governance and tangible development achievements in securing electoral victories, stating, "kaam bolta hai aur acche kaam ko hi logon ka vote milta hai (work speaks for itself and good work gets people's votes)."

In his about 25-minute address to Union ministers, the PM highlighted the need for them to maintain constant communication with citizens, aligning with the NDA government's principle of 'minimum government, maximum governance.'

According to sources, the PM also suggested that his cabinet colleagues prioritised public grievances and respond swiftly to emails and other communication received from the public about people's welfare works and service-delivery system.

The PM's pep talk came following the BJP's astonishing success in the Haryana Assembly polls. On good governance, the PM is learnt to have suggested the ministers to designate a specific day for direct interaction with the public to discuss government initiatives and welfare policies.

Modi reiterated that the performance and visibility of government actions are crucial for electoral success. This meeting marked the second gathering of Modi's council of ministers since the formation of the NDA-3 government.

Sources indicated that Modi attributed the electoral success to the party's good governance, emphasizing that performance is the key factor that ensures favorable electoral outcomes.

When the meeting began, the ministers gave a standing ovation to the PM on the Haryana results. The meeting deliberated on various aspects of development plans for more than two-and-half hours. The PM reportedly told his ministers to focus on governance based on works, not on words alone. Quoting the PM, a senior party source said that the PM repeatedly told the ministers that "ham sabhi janata ke sevak hai (we are the servants of the people) and are duty-bound to serve them by setting examples of completing development works in a time-bound manner."

Speaking about the success of aspirational districts, the PM asked the ministers to make regular visits to these districts and gather real feedback from the ground after directly speaking to the people.

He also emphasized that cabinet ministers should also have regular meetings and coordination with their junior ministers. "The ministers must go into details to ensure maximum benefits to the targeted beneficiaries," a party source said, quoting the PM's suggestion to his cabinet colleagues.

After witnessing power-point presentations, the PM remarked that collective efforts of ministers and in all departments would ensure the success of schemes and move the country towards realizing the collective goal of 'Viksit Bharat' by 2047.

Rahul unhappy with internal rift, says some leaders preferred personal interest

> The fact-finding committee will speak with party candidates and leaders to detail the reasons for the unexpected results
>

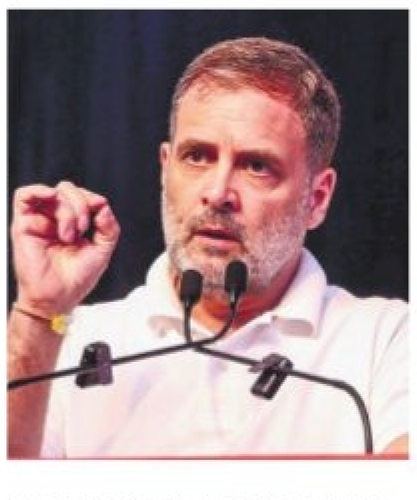
Internal analysis

Asked if infighting had hurt the party's chances, Congress leader Ajay Maken said, "There are various reasons, from the Election Commission to internal differences, we have discussed all that and will do so in the future as well because such a big upset... we cannot discuss everything in an hour."

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi



THE Congress will set up a fact-finding committee to examine the reasons for its humiliating defeat in the Haryana Assembly polls.

The decision was announced on Thursday after the party's top brass headed by AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge held a review meeting to deliberate on the "unexpected" results. Former party chief Rahul Gandhi, AICC general secretary organisation KC Venugopal, AICC senior observers for the polls Ashok Gehlot and Ajay Maken, as well as AICC secretaries for the state, attended the meeting at Kharge's residence. AICC in-charge of state Deepak Babaria joined the meeting online.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, Venugopal said a fact-finding committee would be formed to examine the reasons behind the party's poor show in the elections. "The committee will speak with party candidates and leaders to detail the reasons for the unexpected results," he said.

However, sources said Rahul Gandhi was upset that factionalism among state leaders resulted in party loss. Gandhi made the point that some leaders placed self-interest above the party interest, said the source.

"We held a review meeting on the Haryana election results. The results were unexpected, given the exit and opinion polls. There was a lot of difference between exit polls and actual results. We discussed what the reasons for that. We will take appropriate steps going forward on this," Maken told media.

Asked if infighting had hurt the party's chances, Maken said, "There are various reasons, from the Election Commission to internal differences, we have discussed all that and will do so in the future as well because such a big upset...we cannot discuss everything in one or one-and-a-half hours."

AICCs senior observer for Haryana polls, Gehlot said: "We are taking this loss very seriously. The exit polls and the public in one voice were saying that Congress would form a government in Haryana. We need to go to the root of it".

A source present at the meeting said a fact-finding committee will be announced soon as is the convention in the party to analyse the results.

The committee will also look into the details of complaints from various constituencies and compile them in a comprehensive manner.

Later in the evening, the office of the Congress president issued a statement saying there have been numerous baseless source-based news circulating in the media. "Following Congress meeting today to discuss the results of Haryana elections, there have been numerous baseless news circulating in the media. Senior leaders had briefed the media after the meeting. We request you to stick to our formal briefing and desist from any conjectures that deviate from the official brief," a party handout said.

"The party has decided to depute a technical team to look into complaints and discrepancies noted by our candidates. Congress will issue a detailed response based on the fact-finding team's report," it said.

Tata emerged from failures stronger than before

TRUST, reputation – and yes, pride – were far more important in his book than money.

I had the privilege of meeting Ratan Tata twice, including conducting a lengthy interview with him. I was struck by how unassuming he was, quite unlike the "great man" leaders who populate our history books. He told me that he never gave orders to the chairs of the various companies within the group, because he believed he did not have the right to do so.

His approach, he said, was to "cajole" his executives, explaining his own position patiently and waiting for their response.

And yet, when the values and reputation of the Tata Group were threatened, he could put his foot down. The Cyrus Mistry affair is a good example of this. Ratan clearly felt that some of Cyrus Mistry's actions were not in line with the Tata values, and tried to perusade him to step down. When Mistry refused, Ratan fired him.

He was not perfect. Not all of his ideas worked out. The Nano microcar, one of his favourite projects, looked great on paper but made little impact on the market. This did no harm to Ratan's reputation, though. Failure the Nano may have been, but everyone knew the intentions behind the project, and respected his sincerity. One of the marks of a great leader is to emerge from failure stronger than before, and Ratan Tata had that quality.

I have interviewed many CEOs and other leaders around the world, and Ratan Tata remains one of the most impressive I have met. His achievements in expanding the Tata Group's size and global reach are a matter of record.

His style of leadership showed that leaders do not have to be loud, brash or bullying. Patience and sincerity and, above all, trust, are at the end of the day far more effective. He was a talented leader, a compassionate man and a gentleman in the truest sense of the word, and we shall not see his like again.

Despite ban, over 1,000 child marriages reported in 2022, shows NCPCR data

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

1.5 mn girls under 18 married off

A total of 1,002 child marriages took place in the country in 2022, despite being prohibited under the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006, according to the latest NCPCR data. In India alone, an estimated 1.5 million girls under 18 are married annually, with nearly 16% of adolescent girls aged 15-19 currently married, the report said.

DESPITE a ban, more than 1,000 child marriages were reported in the country in 2022 with a record 215 reported in Karnataka, according to the latest report released by the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) on Thursday.

Karnataka is followed by Assam, where 163 child marriages took place out of the total 1,002 in the country, despite being prohibited under the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006, the report said.

This is followed by Tamil Nadu, where 155 child marriages were reported. Others are West Bengal (121), Maharashtra (99), Telangana (53), Odisha (46), Haryana (37), Andhra Pradesh (26), Uttar Pradesh (17), Bihar (13), Jammu and Kashmir (2), and Delhi (1).

In India alone, an estimated 1.5 million girls under 18 are married annually, with nearly 16% of adolescent girls aged 15-19 currently married.

Despite a decrease in prevalence from 47% to 27% between 2005-2006 and 2015-2016, child marriage remains unacceptably prevalent. "Child marriage, deeply rooted in social norms, starkly exemplifies pervasive gender inequality and discrimination, reflecting the devaluation of girls' human rights," the over 600-page report said.

Seeing the rise in child marriages, the child rights body developed a format of activities and asked for district-wise action-taken reports. The NCPCR also asked the states to identify children who have dropped out, are out of school, or do not attend school regularly. They also asked authorities to map schools where children are absent without information.

The idea was to identify at-risk children and prevent their possible marriages. About 11,49,023 children were identified, 6,16,897 schools mapped, and 280,289 villages and blocks were targeted where awareness programmes were carried out.

The report said that such marriages are a severe violation of children's rights, and exposes them to heightened risks of violence, exploitation, and abuse.

INDIA bloc strength

With 6 Congress MLAs and lone CPM legislator, the alliance tally has risen to 53. in the 90-member Assembly. The first cabinet meeting, Omar Abdullah indicated, would pass a resolution on restoration of statehood.

BUOYED by four Independents extending their support to the National Conference, party vice-president Omar Abdullah is all set to be the first chief minister of J&K Union Territory after being elected as leader of his legislature party on Thursday. The focus of the new government will be on the restoration of statehood.

The NC emerged as the single largest party in the 90-member J&K Assembly by winning 42 seats. With support from the four independents, the party's strength has increased to 46, one above the majority mark.

The NC Legislature Party met at its headquarters in Srinagar on Thursday where the legislators unanimously elected Omar as their leader.

"I am thankful to NC legislators for electing me as their leader and reposing faith in me," Omar told media after the legislature party meeting. Omar served as CM in NC-Congress coalition government in erstwhile J&K state from 2009 to 2014. Asked when he would stake his claim to form the government, Omar said, "We are talking to Congress for their support letter. Once we receive it, we will immediately meet the Lt Governor and stake our claimm" he said.

The pre-poll alliance partners—the NC, Congress and the CPM—will convene a meeting on Friday to begin the government formation process. "Discussions are currently underway with the Congress, which has sought one day to make its decision and provide their letter of support," an NC leader said.

J&K Congress chief Tariq Karra is currently in Delhi to hold consultation with party leaders.

With the support of six Congress MLAs and lone CPM legislator, the NC-Congress alliance tally has risen to 53. The four Independent MLAs have won from the Jammu region.

The focus of the new government will be restoration of statehood. Omar indicated his priority on Wednesday, saying the first cabinet meeting would pass a resolution on restoration of statehood. Omar's father and NC president Farooq Abdullah said that much. "We hope the Centre will treat us well. And statehood is returned to J&K," he said.

BJP govt in Haryana may take oath after Dussehra

Caste equation

It will not be an easy task for the BJP to balance caste equations and regions in the state. The saffron party legislators are drawn from various castes & communities like Brahmin, SC, Jat, Yadav and Punjabis.

THE swearing-in of the BJP government in Haryana is likely after Dussehra which could be attended by PM Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah, besides several other Union ministers and CMs of BJP-ruled states.

It will not be an easy task for the BJP to balance caste equations and regions while forming the government for a third consecutive term. Party sources believe that Nayab Singh Saini would return as Chief Minister, supported by deputy CMs. The party legislators are drawn from various castes and communities such as Brahmin, SC, Jat, Yadav and Punjabis. They also include a vocal former state home minister, Anil Vij.

On the other hand, Union minister Rao Inderjit Singh has pitched for a cabinet berth for his daughter Arti Rao. The saffron party won 10 of 11 seats in the Ahirwal region of southern Haryana, comprising Gurugram, Rewari and Mahendargarh districts.

Former minister Rao Narbir who won from Badshahpur, the largest assembly segment in the state, is eyeing for the deputy CM post. Two other frontrunners for senior positions are six-time MLA Krishna Lal Panwar and two-time MLA Krishan Kumar Bedi, as BJP candidates won from eight SC seats out of the 17 in the state.

Among the Punjabi origin legislators, seven-time MLA Anil Vij is most prominent. He had declared that if the party gave him a chance, he would be the CM. Vij reportedly sulked in March after he was not made the CM when Manohar Lal Khattar stepped down.

Rao Narbir is reportedly trying to leverage his new-found proximity to Union Home Minister Amit Shah and reportedly met the party's central leadership. He got the ticket this time only due to Shah's intervention. He remained loyal to the party despite being denied the ticket in 2019, party sources said.

For a cabinet berth, the name of former MP Shruti Chaudhary, who won from Tosham and is the daughter of the party's Rajya Sabha MP Kiran Chaudhary, is also doing the rounds.

There can be a maximum 14 ministers in the state government, including the chief minister.

T-shirts, jeans banned for govt teachers in Bihar

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Bihar government has enforced a new dress code for school teachers, banning t-shirts and jeans, during working hours. Teachers and other employees will face action if they're found violating the dress code, says a notice of the education department

The notice points out that earlier guidelines on maintaining decency in educational institutions were not followed. As per the notice, government school teachers have also been banned from making reels.

The department has taken the decision in view of dance and DJ videos going viral on social media. According to the department, such activities not only negatively impact the academic environment, but also hurt the dignity of the school.

The department, however, has given permission to organise programmes in a disciplined manner on special occasions as per the prescribed calendar.

Meanwhile, the Bihar government has announced new policy for transfer and posting of school teachers, giving priority to those with serious illnesses and disabilities. Education Minister Sunil Kumar said that all applications for transfers would be received online only.

Post Haryana result, INDIA bloc to firm up J'khand seat deal

MUKESH RANJAN @ RANCHI

THE Jharkhand Mukti Morcha and the Congress have resolved their differences over seat sharing and the INDIA bloc will together contest assembly elections, JMM leaders said.

CM Hemant Soren and his MLA wife Kalpana Soren met Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi in Delhi on Wednesday to discuss seat-sharing formula.

"The debacle of the Congress in Haryana Assembly polls was discussed during the meeting. Taking lessons from the Haryana results, INDIA bloc will contest the elections strongly, to avoid any such possibility in Jharkhand," a senior JMM leader said, wishing not to be named. He said Soren will remain in Delhi till October 12 to firm up the seats formula.

The Congress was earlier demanding to contest 33 seats out of the 81 in the assembly. Allies RJD and CPI (M-L) have also been demanding more seats.

"A decision will be taken as it is more important to ensure the win of the INDIA bloc rather than any individual or party," the JMM leader said.

Recently, the JMM had threatened the Congress that the party will contest the Assembly polls on all 81 seats if any question is raised on the leadership of Soren by the coalition partners. JMM's reply came in response to a recent statement of Jharkhand Congress in-charge Ghulam Ahmed Mir that if his party wins 30-40 seats, there might be a possibility that JMM and Congress have chief ministers on rotational basis.

JMM general secretary Supriyo Bhattacharya had then said, "Those who agree to contest Jharkhand polls under JMM's leadership are welcome; otherwise the party is fully prepared to contest all 81 seats in the state."

Senior docs from corporate hosps join protest

Guv urges medics to end indefinite hunger fast

Concerned over their deteriorating health conditions due to fasting over the past five days, Governor CV Ananda Bose has urged the junior medics to end their hunger strike and advised them to continue their protest without affecting their health, a source in the Raj Bhavan said on Thursday. Bose's plea came after a few junior doctors urged him to intervene. He went to the junior doctors at their hunger strike venue in Dharmatala and assured them of holding a peace meeting

THE junior doctors, agitating over the rape and murder of their colleague at the RG Kar Hospital, continued their fast unto death for the fifth day on Thursday, with their talks with the West Bengal government failing to break the deadlock.

Doctors from various private and corporate hospitals in Kolkata joined the protest and 40 doctors of state-run SSKM Hospital resigned en masse on Thursday to show solidarity with the medics on hunger strike.

Two days back, 54 senior doctors of RG Kar Medical College and 35 of North Bengal Medical College and Hospital in Siliguri resigned in support of the junior doctors' protest.

The junior doctors on hunger strike for more than 100 hours showed signs of physical weakness, but the medics said they are mentally strong and will continue their movement.

"We are deeply concerned for the health of the protesting doctors," said Dr Gautam Das of SSKM Hospital. The doctors' decision to resign is out of frustration with the state government's indifference to their legitimate concerns, he said, pointing out the lack of progress in resolving the impasse over the doctors' demands.

The government convened a meeting on Wednesday evening with the protestors but failed to break the deadlock. Following the meeting, chaired by Chief Secretary Manoj Pant, the protesting doctors alleged that they received nothing concrete from the state government except "verbal assurances".

While the junior doctors wanted a fixed date for the students' union election to be held in every state-run medical college, the government did not give any assurance. Upset junior doctors alleged that there seemed to be no willingness on the part of the government to find a solution.

"They gave us assurances, like they gave us before, and told us to wait till the Pujas are over. Right now, every minute counts as our friends on fast are showing physical weaknesses, and anything can happen. The government is playing with the lives of those who are dedicated to saving lives of others," said a junior doctor.

At the protest site, the doctors criticised the police for apprehending their colleagues who were demonstrating and distributing leaflets outside Durga Puja pandals on Wednesday. Many people from all walks of life also joined the demonstrations but they were not allowed to cross barricades in Dharmatala area.

The doctors called for immediate removal of Health Secretary NS Nigam, alleging administrative incompetence and inaction against corruption.

NASA, ISRO DISCOVER BLACK HOLE DESTROY STAR, GO AFTER ANOTHER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

NASA and ISRO researchers have discovered that a massive black hole has torn apart a star and is now using the stellar wreckage to pummel another star or a smaller black hole that used to be in the clear.

The discovery has been made through NASA's space observatories -- Chandra, HST, NICER, Swift-- and ISRO's AstroSat. According to a release shared by ISRO on Thursday, this information provides astronomers with valuable insights, linking two mysteries. In 2019, astronomers had witnessed the signal of a star getting too close to a black hole and was destroyed by the latter's gravitational force. Once shredded, the star's remains began circling the black hole in a disk. Over the years, this disk expanded outward and came directly in the path of another star, or possibly a stellar-mass black hole, orbiting the massive black hole at a previously safe distance. This orbiting star is now repeatedly crashing through the debris disk, about once every 48 hours, as it circles. When it does, the collision causes bursts of X-rays that astronomers have captured with Chandra, the release said.

Matt Nicholl from Queens University compared this action to that of a diver repeatedly diving into a pool and creating a splash each time. Each time the star strikes the surface, it creates a huge splash of gas and X-rays. As the star orbits around the black hole, it does this over and over again, Nicholl said.

Scientists have documented many cases where objects get too close to a black hole and get torn apart in a single burst of light. It is termed as Tidal Disruption Events (TDEs), which are now known as AT2019qiz. It was first discovered by a wide-field optical telescope at the Palomar Observatory, called the Zwicky Transient Facility, in 2019. In 2023, astronomers used both Chandra and NASA's Hubble Space Telescope to study the debris left behind after the tidal disruption had ended.

The ultraviolet data from Hubble also allowed scientists to determine the size of the disk around the super-massive black hole. They found that the disk had become large enough that if any object was orbiting the black hole with a period of about a week or less, it would collide with the disk and cause eruptions, the release said.

Gulab Dewangan, a co-author from the Pune-based Inter-University Center for Astronomy and Astrophysics said India's AstroSat mission provides unique UV/X-ray capability for studying such events. AstroSat's Soft X-ray Telescope and the Ultra-Violet Imaging Telescope (UVIT) detected the source AT-2019qiz, but the eruptions were only seen in X-rays. Future sensitive simultaneous X-ray and UV observations of similar eruptions will enable a deeper investigation into their nature, he added. This result has implications for searching for more quasi-periodic eruptions associated with tidal disruptions. Finding more of these would allow astronomers to measure the prevalence and distances of objects in close orbits around super-massive black holes.

US KEEN TO INSTAL NEW PRESIDENT IN LEBANON

Saudi Arabia backs the idea; Eygpt, Qatar say the plan is unrealistic, WSJ reports

BEIRUT

THE US is aiming to use Israel's offensive against Hezbollah as an opportunity to push aside the Iran-backed Lebanese terror group on the path to installing a new Lebanese government, US and Arab officials familiar with talks on the matter told the Wall Street Journal, according to a Times of Israel report.

The Lebanese president, as commander of the armed forces, would play a vital role in heading a government to handle the current crisis, the report said.

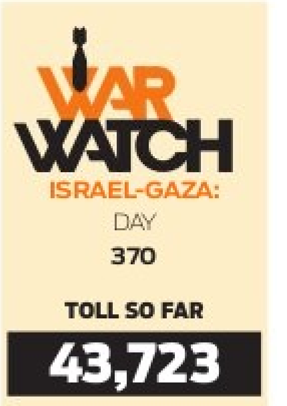
All of the officials spoke to the Journal on condition of anonymity. With Hezbollah weakened by the Israeli attacks, the US sees an opening to shift the political situation in Lebanon, which has stagnated without an elected president for two years, the report said.

Earlier this week, US State Department spokesman Matt Miller told reporters, "What we want to see come out of this situation, ultimately, is Lebanon able to break the grip that Hezbollah has had on the country — more than a grip, break the stranglehold that Hezbollah has had on the country and remove Hezbollah veto over a president."

In recent days, US Secretary of State Anthony Blinken spoke with the leaders of Qatar, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia to seek their support for the election of a new Lebanese president, the report said. Saudi officials told the Journal that the kingdom backs the idea, while Egyptian and Qatari officials said the plan is unrealistic and has dangers, the report said.

The latter assessed that Israel cannot completely destroy Hezbollah and the group will therefore need to be included in the political process to end the conflict.

Some in Lebanon are concerned that pushing to install a president now could ignite the kind of sectarian violence that has plagued the country in the past. Egypt has also raised similar concerns, the report said.



Han Kang becomes first South Korean to win literature Nobel

STOCKHOLM

SOUTH Korean poet and novelist Han Kang was awarded the Nobel Prize in literature on Thursday for a poetic and unsettling body of work that the Nobel committee said "confronts historical traumas and exposes the fragility of human life."

A slow-burning international literary star who has won multiple awards in South Korea and Europe, Han is the first Asian woman and the first South Korean writer to win the Nobel literature prize. She was awarded for books, including "The Vegetarian" and "Human Acts," that explore the pain of being human and the scars of Korea's turbulent history.

Nobel literature committee member Anna-Karin Palm said Han writes about "trauma, pain and loss," whether individual or collective, "with the same compassion and care."

"And this, I think, is something that is quite remarkable," Palm said. Nobel committee chairman Anders Olsson praised Han's "empathy for the vulnerable, often female lives" of her characters. "She has a unique awareness of the connections between body and soul, the living and the dead," Olsson said. Han is the second South Korean national to win a Nobel Prize. Late former President Kim Dae-jung won the peace prize in 2000 for his efforts to restore democracy in South Korea during the country's previous military rule and improve relations with war-divided rival North Korea.

Han did immediately comment. Mats Malm, permanent secretary of the Swedish Academy that awards the prize, said he spoke to the author and surprised her with the news.

"She was having an ordinary day, it seems, had just finished supper with her son," he said. "She wasn't really prepared for this." Han wins the Nobel at a time of growing global influence of South Korean culture.

- India Inc mourns demise of visionary Ratan Tata
- Question of succession at the forefront even as Noel Tata is the front-runner in the race

AFTER TATA'S DEMISE, WHO WILL STEP UP TO LEAD THE GROUP?

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @Mumbai

THE passing away of Ratan Naval Tata, the Tata Group patriarch and the chairman emeritus on Wednesday night after a short illness, has triggered speculation over who will head the 13 Tata Trusts, which own 66.4% of the $165-billion Tata conglomerate.

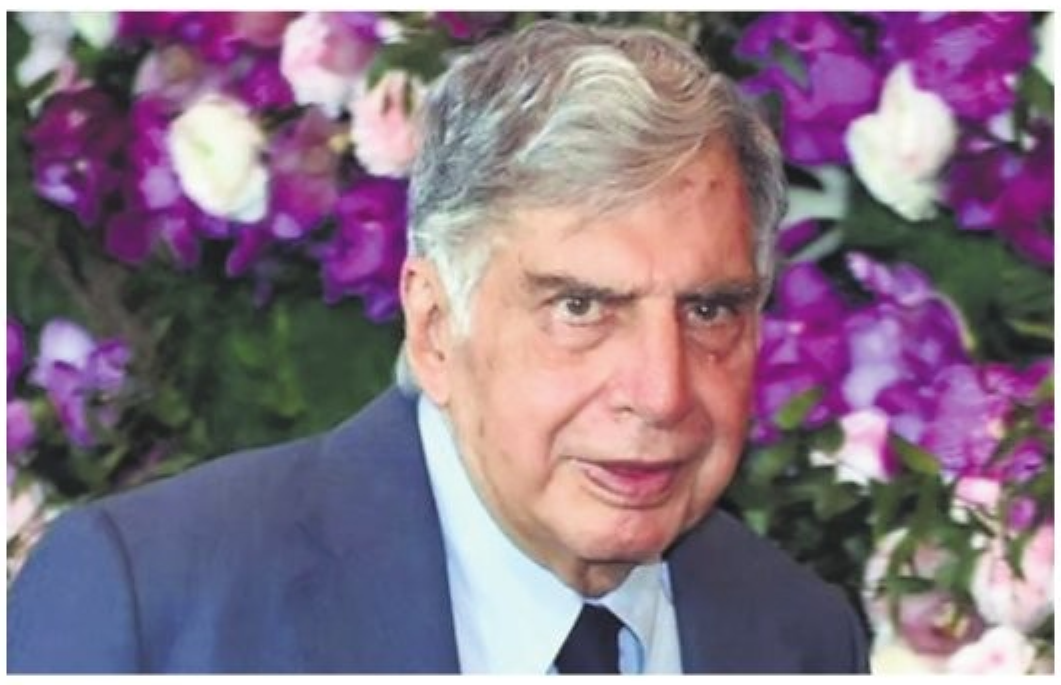
86-year-old Ratan Tata has left for heavenly abode apparently without a succession planning in place for the 13 trusts, shifting the focus to Noel Tata, stepbrother of the late Tata. Noel, who many consider as the heir apparent of the Tata Group, is a trustee in two of the most influential of these trusts – the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust and the Sir Ratan Tata Trust. The two trusts own 55% in Tata Sons, the holding company of the diversified salt-to-software Tata Group. In recent years, Noel has taken on increasingly important responsibilities within the Trusts. In February 2019, he was inducted onto the board of the Sir Ratan Tata Trust. He was also made the vice-chairman of Titan Company in 2018, and in March 2022, he was appointed vice-chairman of Tata Steel, further solidifying his presence within the group.

Noel's career within the Tata Group began in the early 2000s, and by 2011, he was appointed managing director of Tata International, and for over a decade now he chairs Trent, the group's retail chain, that runs Croma, Westside, Zudio, Star Bazaar, among others, excluding the Tata Starbucks, Titan and Tanishq. While Tata Trusts spokesperson did not answer the call from TNIE, a former trustee who worked closely with the late Tata said, Noel has everything going to lead the trusts as the chairman. "For one he is from the Tata family which carries a lot of trust and faith, and two, he has long years of experience in working with the trusts and thirdly, Tata Sons also have to look at the Parsi community's sentiment for the Tata name. All these, I believe has him leading the trust soon."

"Plus we don't know whether the late Tata has left a note before he breathed his last about the future of the trusts," the source said.

Unlike Tata Sons, where during his working life itself the late Tata could find a durable successor, first in Cyrus Mistry, the fellow Parsi and the single largest external shareholder of Tata Sons (which though didn't work out the way planned) and then in his right-hand man N Chandrasekaran, the late Tata could not ensure a succession plan for the trusts before he breathed his last night in a city hospital.

The significance of Tata Trusts is humungous as it owns 66.4% of the $165-billion Tata empire that counts more than 100 operating companies in as many sectors, and 30 of them listed with collective market value of over ₹34 lakh crore. Of the 13 trustees, six of them manage the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust and seven manage the Sir Ratan Tata Trust.



Mr Ratan Tata took India to the world and brought the best of the world to Bharat.

Mukesh Ambani, chairman of Reliance Industries

Touched millions of lives

Mr. Tata's dedication to philanthropy and the development of society has touched the lives of millions, says N Chandra sekaran, current chairman of Tata Sons.

Leaders from business, politics pay tribute to visionary industry stalwart

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

TOP politicians, including the prime minister, business leaders and the general public at large remembered Ratan Tata, the former chairman of Tata Sons, who passed away on Wednesday in Mumbai, aged 86. Prime Minister Narendra Modi in a post on X called Tata "a visionary business leader, a compassionate soul and an extraordinary human being"

. He added, "He provided stable leadership to one of India's oldest and most prestigious business houses. At the same time, his contribution went far beyond the boardroom." Google and Alphabet CEO Sundar Pichai said that Ratan Tata left an extraordinary business and philanthropic legacy and was instrumental in mentoring and developing modern business leadership in India. Mukesh Ambani, chairman of Reliance Industries said that Ratan Tata's passing away is a big loss, not just to the Tata Group, but to every Indian. N Chandrasekaran, the current chairman of Tata Sons, the holding company of conglomerate Tata Group, said, "Mr. Tata's dedication to philanthropy and the development of society has touched the lives of millions. From education to health care, his initiatives have left a deep-rooted mark that will benefit generations to come."

Adani Group Chairman Gautam Adani called Ratan Tata "a giant, a visionary who redefined modern India's path." "Ratan Tata wasn't just a business leader — he embodied the spirit of India with integrity, compassion and an unwavering commitment to the greater good," Adani wrote on X.

Anand Mahindra, chairman of India's Mahindra Group, said "India's economy stands on the cusp of a historic leap forward. And Ratan's life and work have had much to do with our being in this position."

With unwavering integrity, Ratan Tata prioritised values over profit

RATAN Tata's leadership transcends the boundaries of business; he shaped not only the Tata Group but also everyone fortunate enough to work with him. He was a visionary, the first to push Tata into the global stage with bold moves like acquiring Jaguar Land Rover and Corus Steel. It wasn't just about expanding—it was about setting a precedent for what Indian businesses could achieve internationally.

He had the foresight to think beyond borders, but what made him truly stand out was the way he did it—with unwavering integrity, always prioritising values over profit.

In the many years I've been associated with the Tata Group, his influence has been ever-present. Whether it was a critical boardroom decision or a personal challenge, Ratan Tata remained a figure of calm and clarity.

He never allowed the weight of a situation to cloud his judgement. This ability to stay composed under pressure is something I've tried to emulate in my own career. His wisdom wasn't forceful but gentle, and his approach inspired confidence. There was never a moment where I didn't feel heard or supported when seeking his guidance.

One of the most remarkable traits Ratan Tata displayed was his deep commitment to fairness. No matter how challenging the decision, he was guided by principles, ensuring that everyone was treated with respect and dignity.

Even when he was in a position of immense power, he never took advantage of it. He led with a quiet strength that made people want to follow him, not because they had to, but because they trusted him. That trust came from his consistency—he never wavered in his ethics or his belief in doing the right thing. But beyond his business acumen, it was his humanity that touched me most. His humility was perhaps his greatest strength. Despite his monumental achievements, Ratan Tata was never above sitting down and listening to anyone who had something to say, no matter their rank or title. He was open to new ideas, always curious, and willing to embrace innovation. His genuine interest in people and technology made him a forward-thinking leader. He constantly pushed boundaries while keeping his feet firmly on the ground. Working with him taught me the true essence of leadership: it's not about individual success but about nurturing those around you.

AJAY PIRAMAL
Chairman, Piramal Group. He is also on the board of Tata Sons

He believed that Tata's greatest asset was its people, and his ability to recognize potential and cultivate it was nothing short of extraordinary. I've seen firsthand how he built teams, not just with talent but with a sense of shared purpose and belonging.

He understood that t he strength of an organisation lies in the collective effort of its people, and that is a lesson I carry with me in every endeavor.

Ratan Tata's contributions to philanthropy also left an indelible mark on me. His belief in giving back was as strong as his belief in business. Whether it was improving access to healthcare, revolutionising education, championing animal welfare, or working on sanitation projects, his quiet but impactful philanthropy changed lives. He never sought recognition for these efforts; his focus was always on making a difference where it mattered most.

What I've admired most about him is how he handled life's challenges—both professional and personal—with grace.

Even in difficult times, he was always warm, approachable, and willing to listen. His ability to remain sharp and thoughtful, while also being compassionate, has been a guiding light for me. In times of doubt or difficulty, I often reflect on his calm demeanor and the lessons he imparted, which were not just about business but about life.

In many ways, Ratan Tata shaped not just my career but my personal outlook. He taught me that leadership is about more than results—it's about the legacy you leave through the people you touch, the values you uphold, and the humility with which you carry yourself.

His influence on my life is something I hold dear, and I am endlessly grateful for the wisdom, kindness, and inspiration he shared so generously. His legacy will always be remembered, not just in the success of the Tata Group, but in the lives of all those he influenced and inspired.

TCS profit logs 5% growth in Q2; revenue up 7.6%

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @Mumbai

TATA Consultancy Services, the largest software exporter from the country, has logged in a 5% growth in net income at ₹11,909 crore, earning an 18.5% profit margin from a ₹64,259-crore revenue that has clipped at 7.6% y-o-y in the September quarter.

Following the passing of Ratan Naval Tata late Wednesday night due to age-related ailments, the emeritus chairman of the group as well as the parent Tata Sons, has called off the planned post-earnings presser to mourn the timely demise of its ex-chairman under whom it has become the largest software exporter and also the group's cash cow.

On a sequential basis, net income inched down by 1.1%, missing Street expectations. Despite the better than expected numbers, the TCS counter declined 50 bps to ₹4,228.40 on the BSE at close after hitting a high of ₹4,293.30 intra-day.

The earnings were declared after the market hours. The quarter saw the company netting an operating margin of 24.1% helping it fetch a net margin of 18.5%.

Samsung says it will continue to work with govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

TECHNOLOGY giant Samsung announced on Thursday that it will continue to work with the Government of India and various states where it operates. This statement from the South Korean tech giant came in response to media reports from Tamil Nadu suggesting that the company is planning to leave the state following prolonged protests at its Sriperumbudur plant.

Thousands of workers have been protesting at Samsung's facility in Sriperumbudur, on the outskirts of Chennai. The protests have entered the second month, with workers demanding recognition of their union and improvements in working conditions.

"Samsung has been a strong partner in India's growth journey for nearly three decades and committed to the government's "Make in India" initiative. We will continue to work with the Government of India and various states where we are present, to realize their vision of nation building through investments in manufacturing, R&D, responsible citizenship and transformational innovations. We are thankful to the Tamil Nadu Government for their support," said a spokesperson of Samsung.

Samsung's Sriperumbudur plant, operational since 2007, has never before encountered such a protest. This plant is a crucial production unit, accounting for one-third of its annual revenue in India, approximately $12 billion. The strike, which began on September 9, was driven by workers' demands for higher wages, specifically a raise from ₹25,000 to ₹36,000 over the next three years, as well as official recognition of their union.

Exporters can now claim rebates on output side

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

THE Ministry of Finance has issued a formal notification regarding the deletion of Rule 96(10) of the Central Goods and Services Tax (CGST) Rules, effective from 8 October 2024. This rule had been the focus of significant industry debate due to the confusion it created regarding the eligibility of Indian exporters to claim refunds under the rebate option, while also availing themselves of benefits under specified notifications and schemes outlined in the Foreign Trade Policy (FTP).

According to the sub-rule (10) of Rule 96 in the CGST rules, if one has used certain tax benefits or exemptions on the materials imported or bought locally, one cannot claim a refund of the Integrated Goods and Services Tax (IGST) that was paid when exporting goods or services. In other words, if one received some form of tax relief on inputs, one won't be able to get a refund on the export tax. The repeal of Rule 96(10) is expected to offer substantial relief to numerous exporters whose transitional credits had been effectively blocked due to the restrictive conditions imposed by the rule. Under the previous regime, exporters who claimed certain benefits under FTP schemes were barred from claiming a rebate of taxes on exported goods, leading to operational challenges and financial strain. The rule's deletion now enables these exporters to claim rebates on the output side without the risk of being disqualified due to simultaneous claims under FTP schemes.

Experts advise exporters affected by Rule 96(10) to review their rebate claims and transitional credits in light of this notification. They also advise them to consult tax professionals to ensure that all claims are aligned with the updated regulatory framework, which takes effect from 8 October 2024. This will ensure that exporters fully leverage the relief provided by the deletion of Rule 96(10), while maintaining compliance with the revised CGST rules. According to Vishal Kulkarni, Director of Tax, Teva Pharmaceuticals, India, the deletion of this rule will enable ease of doing business in India, fostering a business-friendly environment in India.

'Deletion of Rule 96(10) serves a dual purpose'

First, it provides relief to taxpayers whose transitional credits were previously blocked. Secondly, its removal strengthens the argument that the rule, in its earlier form, was ambiguous, and possibly arbitrary, said Abhishek A Rastogi, founder, Rastogi Chambers.

Equity fund inflows drop 11% in Sept; sectoral funds continue to drive growth

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INFLOWS into equity mutual funds saw a drop of 11% in September even as thematic and sectoral funds continue to drive healthy collections. In September, net inflows into equity funds fell to ₹34,419 crore from ₹38,239 crore in the previous month. The drop in equity fund inflows was despite a 2% jump in the equity markets during the month.

According to experts, the drop in equity fund inflows could be owing to investors' concern over valuation, increasing geo-political uncertainty and moderation in earnings, resulting in redemption from equity funds. Of the ₹34,419 crore net inflows into equity funds in September, sectoral and thematic funds accounted for ₹13,254 crore, or 38.5% of the net inflows during the month. In August, these funds had accounted for 47% of the total inflows. Mid and small cap funds continue to remain big draws for investors as they together accounted for ₹9,000 crore net inflows into equity funds. Of ₹2.03 lakh crore net inflows in the current financial year (April-Sep) in equity-oriented funds, 47% or ₹96,489 crore has come into sector/thematic funds, largely driven by launch of new funds.

Cautioning investors of pumping money in new fund offers, Abhishek Tiwari, chief business officer, PGIM India AMC, says investing in this category can be highly rewarding in the short to medium term, but it comes with relatively higher risk as one has to get the timing of entry and exit right in a sector fund, especially the ones which are narrow and dominated by a top-down view. Meanwhile, net asset under management (AUM) of the mutual fund industry grew in September to ₹67.09 lakh crore as on 30 September, up 4.65% month-on-month. At the end of August 2024, the net AUM was ₹66.70 lakh crore.

No term cap? Appellate Panel as Draft Sports Bill set to usher in changes

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

IF the Draft National Sports Governance Bill, 2024, is passed, Indian sports governance is expected to change, hopefully for the better. The multiple court cases that are going on against various federations due to violation of National Sports Development Code of India (2011) might also see an end if all National Sports Federations change their constitution according to the provisions of this Bill. The sports ministry has sought public opinion on the Bill on its website. The proposed Bill envisages the formation of a Sports Regulatory Board of India to oversee the functioning of the National Olympic Committee (NOC), National Sports Federations (NSFs) and other sports bodies of the country. Apart from that, the establishment of an Appellate Sports Tribunal to try all cases that come under the provision of the proposed sports Bill is another highlight. This will stop cases from going to lower and High Courts.

On the tenure issue, however, there seems to be an ambiguity. Earlier, according to the newly-amended Indian Olympic Association constitution, there is a cap of three terms (maximum 12 years) for an office bearer. Also, the constitution says that an office bearer has to step down for cooling off after finishing two four-year terms. The Draft Bill says: "An individual who has served as a Designated Office Bearer of the NOC, for more than two consecutive terms, each term not exceeding four (4) years, shall not be eligible to contest for a Designated Office Bearer post for a period of four years after last serving as a Designated Office Bearer." It needs to be seen whether he/she can contest after the cooling off period. Office bearers in the new IOA constitution mean all members of the EC. According to the sports code, the president, secretary and the treasurer of an NSF is considered office-bearer.

The Bill also allows anyone to contest for the post of any of the proposed Executive Council (EC) posts. The number of the EC has been curtailed to 15, like in the present IOA.

Not just the NSFs, what seems interesting is that the IOA, too, needs to change their constitution again. The International Olympic Committee had already said the constitution had recently been changed and there is no need for further change.

The formation of the Appellate Sports Panel on the lines of Court of Arbitration of Sports seems to be the highlight of this proposed Bill. If the Bill comes into force, the sportspersons and officials of this country no longer need to go to court for their dispute. Even pending cases will be transferred to the appellate panel. "In fact, all civil cases concerning matters coming under the scope of this Bill and in which the NOC, NPC or a NSF has been impleaded as party and pending adjudication before District Court or High Court immediately before the date of establishment of the Appellate Sports Tribunal, shall, on such establishment, stand transferred to the Appellate Sports Tribunal on such date as specified by the Central Government," said the proposed Bill.

THE FE-DAL BROMANCE

The biggest challenge Nadal faced through his career was going up against one of his fiercest rivals who would become his best friend — Roger Federer. From Wimbledon 2008 to Australian Open 2017 to Laver Cup in 2022 when Federer hung his racquets, Nadal was there by his side in those important moments.

> What a career, Rafa! I always hoped this day would never come. Thank you for the unforgettable memories and all your incredible achievements in the game we love. It's been an absolute honor!
>
> — Roger Federer on X

RIVALRY WITH DJOKOVIC

If his relationship with Federer was on one side, his head-to-head record against Novak Djokovic featured more matches and was more closely fought. A record-breaking 60 meetings saw Djokovic come out on top 31 times, although Nadal won 11 of 18 Grand Slam matches.

Nadal: Warrior and people's champion

The Spaniard on Thursday announced that he will be retiring at the end of Davis Cup this year

RIK SHARMA

RAFAEL Nadal, who announced his retirement at the age of 38 on Thursday, was not only the "king of clay" but also reigned on every other tennis surface as he accumulated 22 Grand Slam titles.

He won his first major title at his first French Open, beating Mariano Puerta in the final two days after turning 19. He won his last, a 14th Roland Garros title, 17 years later. While he dominated on clay, he won all four majors. The eight Grand Slam titles he collected on other surfaces -- four US Opens, two Wimbledons and two Australian Opens -- would, on their own, tie for eighth overall in men's tennis history. He amassed titles despite playing in an era which also boasted Roger Federer and Novak Djokovic, tennis's dominant "big three" for more a decade. Nadal played with relentless athleticism, power and mental strength, a style that may have contributed to the injuries that pockmarked his later career. The left-hander also had the shots, notably a ferocious top-spin forehand.

Born on the island of Mallorca, Nadal started playing in his hometown of Manacor, focussing on tennis over football. He was coached by his uncle Toni Nadal from 2005 to 2017. Nadal, said his uncle, played both forehand and backhand with two hands until he was about 10. "When we started playing the forehand one-handed, he did so with the left. And that's how it turned out. It is still astonishing."

AFP

Another of his uncles, Miguel Angel Nadal, played professional football for Barcelona, with the sporting gene running in the family, although the tennis star supports Real Madrid. Nadal turned professional at 14 and made his Wimbledon debut in 2003 at 17. He won Roland Garros every year from 2005 to 2008, beating Federer in the last three of those finals. The Swiss won when they met in the Wimbledon final in 2006 and 2007 but at the third time of asking Nadal he beat Federer on the London grass in an epic final in 2008. The following month he won gold at the Beijing Olympics. Nadal won his first Australian Open in 2009, against Federer again. In 2010, arguably his peak, Nadal became the first male player to win Grand Slams on three different surfaces in a single year, beating Djokovic at the US Open to complete the career Golden Slam of the four majors and the Olympic title. The only other man to achieve that feat is Andre Agassi.

Showing remarkable mental resilience to escape desperate situations, drawing on endless stamina and lethally picking off opponents with his powerful, precise forehand, Nadal was an unforgiving machine. Between 2005 and 2007 he went on a record 81-match winning streak on clay, eventually snapped by Federer in Hamburg.

DAYALAN Hemalatha had to battle every step of the way to get where she is now. Whether it was being dropped from the national setup or constant run-ins with injuries, she has endured enough for a lifetime already. In the journey that started from Chennai more than a decade ago to the 2024 T20 World Cup now in UAE, two friends, V Bobby Gulecha and S Anusha, have stood by the India batter in thick and thin.

Now, with their friend at the biggest stage, the duo is over the moon for her. "It feels proud though I could not make it to the highest level, but seeing her at the highest level it feels like we live that dream with her. That is the happiness we have for her," Bobby, who is the coach of the Tamil Nadu U19 women, tells this daily. "From the U19 age, we knew she was going to make it big. Ten years back, there were very few you could see crossing the boundary. She had the ability and her cover drive is such a pleasure to watch," she added.

With all the talent at an early age, it was clear that Hemalatha was made for the biggest stage. The meteoric rise through the ranks almost made sure that she was close to earning India call-up, however, a wrist injury, caused by an accident on her way to practice in the 2015-16 season, forced her to take a back seat. At a time when she had all the momentum going, Hemalatha had to spend time in recovery and rehabilitation. Even in those trying times, two things remained constant. Her friends and family who stood by her and the hunger to make a comeback. "That accident happened when she was going to practice," Anusha mentioned. "Wrist got crushed and she took ayurvedic treatment and it took months. She would take up the bat and cop the feel even when we said not to. She couldn't let go of it. The love for the game made her ready sooner," the TN cricketer recalls.

In many ways, it is her love for the sport that became a lifeline and helped her build the mental fortitude. And she needed it the most when despite breaking into the Indian team as a 23-year-old, Hemalatha couldn't hold onto it. She was a part of the 2018 T20 World Cup squad, but was not given a consistent run. After being part of the side that won the Asia Cup in 2022, where she gave away eight runs in her three overs in the final against Sri Lanka, she had to wait for more than a year to put on Indian colours during the series against Bangladesh earlier this year.

In what has been an emotional rollercoaster, both Bobby and Anusha believe the one person Hema misses the most is her father, who passed away last year. He was the biggest support behind her still pursuing her dream of playing for India. "Even when he was not well, the one thing he constantly told Hema was 'you have to play for India, you have to play in the World Cup. You don't worry about marriage. Just play. That is my wish.' Even if people at home suggested she get married, her dad would be like 'no, you play first'. Even though he was not around anymore, every fifty, every hundred, every celebration of Hema's would be for her dad," says Anusha.

Australia & Pakistan eye semifinal

While Australia have won both of their matches in group A, Pakistan are still not out of contention for the top-two finish. A look...

MUNEEBA TO LEAD PAK

Even before the match, Pakistan are dealing with the tragic loss of a family member of their captain Fatima Sana. The young allrounder had to leave Dubai to go back home the day before the fixture. With the captain's unavailability for selection, Muneeba Ali will lead the team on to the field against Australia on Friday.

Will King play? Alana King has been a crucial part of the ODIs setup for Australia since her debut in 2021, however, she has not found a place in the T20Is playing XI consistently. It will be interesting to see if King will get the opportunity against this Pakistan as Australia play their first match at the Dubai International Stadium.

How Lanka's campaign came crashing down

KALYANI MANGALE @Dubai

THE moment Sri Lanka defeated Scotland in Abu Dhabi in the final of the ICC Women's T20 World Cup Qualifier, they added the fear value to the group of death with Australia, India and New Zealand already in there. The experts and casual viewers agreed on one fact straightaway, come the T20 World Cup, getting out of that group in itself was going to be challenging. Sri Lanka were carrying that reputation and rightly so.

A series T20I win against England away from home and similarly a series win in South Africa followed by a historic chase against India in the Women's Asia Cup final in front of the near-full house at the Rangiri Dambulla International Stadium meant this Sri Lanka side was turning into a giant-slayer quickly. One of the most fascinating parts of this journey for the side was how they were able to make these inroads even when their stalwart captain was not leading the run-charts like she usually used to.

However, it all came crashing down as the World Cup started. Despite restricting Pakistan to 116 in the difficult conditions of Sharjah, Sri Lanka lost the match by 31 runs. Next were Australia and the latter won by six wickets.

Their 82-run loss against India in Dubai on Wednesday proved to be the final nail in the coffin as they crashed out of the tournament.

Who are the openers?

Even though Abhimanyu Easwaran impressed in the Irani Trophy, the selectors will be on the lookout for openers this season. For that is one spot where they need backups. From Easwaran to B Sai Sudharsan to Devdutt Padikkal to Ruturaj Gaikwad to Mayank Agarwal, everyone would be itching to make a mark and pile on some runs in the first few rounds.

Pacers in focus

As things stand, Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj and Akash Deep seem to be the primary India Test pacers, especially with Mohammed Shami in rehab. There are, however, others who will be on the radar of the selectors. Prasidh Krishna, Mukesh Kumar, Avesh Khan, Khaleel Ahmed, Yash Dayal, Shardul Thakur, Navdeep Saini will all be looking to book a ticket to the Australia tour.

Return of Kishan

Last year, he seemed to be the middle-order left-hand bat in the Test team, but now Ishan Kishan is outside the scheme of things, looking in. After all the controversy last year, this season will mark his return to Jharkhand and he will want to put up some inspiring performances.

Next-gen spinners

If you are a spinner, it is almost impossible to break into the Indian team currently. There are R Ashwin and Ravindra Jadeja, two of the best in the world, and then there are the likes of Kuldeep Yadav and Axar Patel waiting for a chance in the squad. However, there are a few to keep an eye on. Manav Suthar, R Sai Kishore, S Ajith Ram, and Kumar Kartikeya are some of the left-arm spinners while Tanush Kotian is coming up the ranks as an offie.

IOA president Usha says executive council's agenda for SGM 'illegal'

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THE tussle of power between the India Olympic Association (IOA) president and the Executive Council (EC) has plummeted to new depths on Thursday. A day after IOA's EC issued 26 agenda points for the Special General Meeting (SGM), scheduled to be held on October 25, IOA president PT Usha called the move illegal and in violation with its own constitution.

The SGM was called by Usha and the agenda had 16 specific points including the discussion on the appointment of Chief Executive Officer (CEO). However, six days later, the IOA EC, supported by 12 members, had circulated a new set of agenda including discussion of no confidence motion against the IOA president. It was expected that the EC would bring in the no confidence motion.

The letter sent on Wednesday night was signed by Kalyan Chaubey in the capacity of joint secretary and acting CEO. He was re-appointed the acting CEO by the EC members during the acrimonious EC meeting held last week. Interestingly, last year the International Olympic Committee stopped communicating with the acting CEO because it was in violation of the IOA constitution.

Usha called the EC letter illegal and said that she has already convened a meeting. "In accordance with Article 8.1 of the IOA Constitution, as the President of the IOA, I have already convened the SGM, with due notice issued on 3 October 2024. Further, I have not authorised Mr. Kalyan Chaubey, Jt Secretary IOA to convene any meeting or promulgate an agenda for the SGM on 25 October 2024," she said in a statement. She said that he is "impersonating as acting CEO of the IOA".

The IOA president once again reiterated that the appointment of the CEO was made after an EC meeting in January and the objection of the members was regarding the CEO's salary. "Therefore, any other agenda or notice for the same meeting, including the one issued by Mr Kalyan Chaubey, is illegal, unauthorized, and must be viewed as being issued with malafide intent and needs to be disregarded," Usha said.

"Additionally, it is also worth noting that for the EC members to convene a SGM through the CEO, such a decision can only be taken at an EC Meeting as required by the IOA Constitution, which has not been convened in the recent past," she said. It is understood that the appointment of the acting CEO has created a flutter within the IOA office as well. The IOA president issued an official letter asking the office staff to not take any instruction from any acting CEO or EC member who may assume such a position. She said all instructions must come from her or the CEO.

"I was approached by senior sports administrators, who requested that I withdraw the agenda for the SGM and call off the meeting. I was further informed that 12 members of the IOA EC might issue 'No Confidence' against me," Usha said.

As things stand, the SGM is expected to be volatile. The standoff is threatening to tear apart the IOA. What seems really sad is at least half the administrators are Olympians and even Olympic medallists.

HAPPY WORLD EGG DAY

IT'S TIME TO MAKE 'EGG-CELLENT' CHOICES

THE National Egg Co-Ordination Committee is the world's largest association of poultry farmers. Conceived by Dr. B.V. Rao, it is based on the spirit of co-operation and a simple conviction that the farmer must have the right to determine the right selling price. Today, NECC plays a significant role in the betterment of the egg industry in India. Experts from the organisation share insights into whether we should really eat eggs everyday or not!

SHOULD WE REALLY EAT EGGS EVERY DAY?

Though eggs come in a small and affordable package, eggs pack an impressive nutritional punch. One large egg contains around 70 calories, 6 grams of protein, 5 grams of fat and 0 grams of carbs. The yolk in particular is a source of important nutrients like vitamin B12, vitamin D and choline which are all important for helping our bodies process food into energy we can use. Plus, the combination of protein and healthy fat gives eggs some staying power so you feel full for longer.

'Sunday Ho Ya Monday, Roz Khao Ande': CELEBRATING WORLD EGG DAY

One of the best sources of protein available in your kitchen, eggs is chock-full of essential nutrients such as vitamins A, D, B12, and an under-the-radar essential known as choline. Let's begin exploring this nutritional capsule this World Egg Day. Being a good source of several B vitamins, including vitamins B2, B5 and B12. All of these nutrients have several functions in the body, including maintaining healthy skin and hair.

All B vitamins are water- soluble, meaning they don't stay in your body for very long and are not easily stored, so regular consumption is a good way to make sure you meet your needs. Eggs are also rich in amino acids (protein building blocks) like methionine that can help improve the tone and pliability of skin and the strength of hair and nails. Egg yolks contain two carotenoids, lutein and zeaxanthin, that are important for eye health. They play an important role in eye development and healthy vision, and research shows they might even help lower the risk of common age-related eye diseases. Vitamin D is important for numerous bodily processes. It helps regulate blood pressure, lowers the risk for certain cancers and can play a positive role in mental health. One of vitamin D's most important functions is helping us maintain healthy bones. It does this by improving calcium absorption in the gut, and helping keep our calcium and phosphorus levels in a range that promotes healthy bone growth and bone remodelling. One egg boasts 6% of our vitamin D needs, so adding one to your plate each day can reap bone-health benefits.

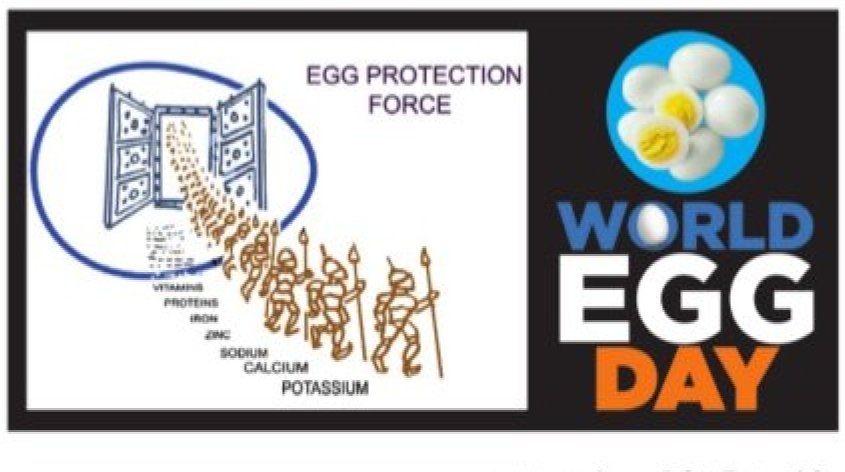
An egg a day shouldn't put you over the edge, especially if you're eating leaner cuts of protein and plant-based protein, rather than

CRACKING THE EGG MYTHS IS ESSENTIAL FOR A HEALTHY LIFESTYLE

For being such a simple food, there sure is a lot of mystery surrounding eggs. With so many rumours floating around, it can be difficult to know what's real and what's fiction. Let's pride ourselves to get to the bottom of these egg myths once and for all.

Myth: Dirt on eggshells is organic and shows the eggs are natural

Fact: Dirt may be organic but is definitely not good for you. Dirt, chicken poo and feathers sometimes contain harmful bacteria, including Salmonella. Discard dirty eggs.



Myth: Eggs can make your blood cholesterol level high and should be avoided

Fact: Eggs do not need to be avoided; they are an excellent source of protein and can be regularly included in your diet. The strongest influence on our blood cholesterol levels is how much saturated and trans-fat (the 'bad' fats) we eat rather than the cholesterol in foods. Eggs are low in saturated fat, have no trans-fat and only a small amount of cholesterol. Most of the fat in eggs is the 'good' unsaturated fat that we need to be healthy.

Myth: Every egg is a baby chicken

Fact: Whether an egg has been fertilized or not, it is still an egg. You can rest assured that the overwhelming majority of eggs for sale at your local grocery store are unfertilized and could not hatch into chickens even if you wanted them to.

Myth: Brown & White Eggs are nutritionally different

Fact: Typically, brown foods are associated with being healthier. However, this trend stops with eggs. Studies have found that white eggs and brown eggs are essentially the same when it comes to nutritional content and health benefits.

Myth: Eating Egg yolks makes people gain weight

Fact: Many people avoid eating egg yolks because they don't want to gain weight. But without the yolk, an egg is missing almost all of its fat-soluble and water- soluble vitamins and minerals. Despite their poor reputation, egg yolks offer additional protein, along with other useful nutrients for healthy weight management. For example, egg yolks are full of vitamin D, which contributes to calcium absorption.

Myth: Eggs are high in cholesterol and can increase the risk of heart disease

Fact: Many studies have now been conducted on healthy people showing no effect of daily egg intake on blood cholesterol levels. The National Health & Medical Research Council's Australian Dietary Guidelines advise that consumption of eggs every day is not associated with an increased risk of coronary heart disease.

Myth: Older people and kids shouldn't eat eggs every day

Fact: Eggs are a good source of high-quality protein and contain 13 vitamins and minerals. This makes them an excellent choice for the different nutritional requirements of kids and those over 60 years

EGG-CITING EGG FACTS ON WORLD EGG DAY

- Both the egg white and yolk are rich in nutrients, including proteins, vitamins and minerals. The yolk contains fat-soluble vitamins (such as vitamins A,D,E and K) and essential fatty acids; while most of the protein is found in the egg white.
- One egg has 6 grams of the stuff, with all nine "essential" amino acids, the building blocks of protein. That's important because those are the ones your body can't make by itself.
- An eggshell can have as many as 17,000 pores.
- An average hen lays 300 to 325 eggs per year.
- The word "yolk" derives from an Old English word for "yellow". Therefore, it is egg white and egg yellow.
